OUTLINES.

The Hazel Drew murder is still a mystery to the police. There is some evidence of her having been seen on the Taborton road on the evening of her disappearance——America won only one event in the Olympic games yesterday. This was something of a surprise as well as was her representative's failure to win in the fancy diving contest. Yesterday was Canada's day to have a grievance, which she had rectified on protest——One of the men in the swimming races at Chicago yesterday was drowned and another came near losing his life——To a delegation of public school teachers Mr. Bryan yesterday made some very pronounced statements as to his views on what the Government owed to certain classes of its citizens in the way of equalizing public benefits——Norfolk pastor's wife administered poison to children in a fit of momentary insanity, and they remained in a precarious condition——Two spectators were drowned as a result of a collision between a tug and a rowboat, while viewing the Illinois Atlantic Club races——Six were killed yesterday in Indiana when a train running at top speed crashed into an automobile——A woman in Buffalo, N. Y., after feeding poison to her three children strangled each to death with a handkerchief and committed suicide. A statement to the police revealed domestic unhappiness——The Atlantic battleship fleet received thousands of visitors aboard the ships yesterday. The officers and Jackies were highly entertained by the natives——New York markets: Money on call nominal, time loans quiet and firm. Spot cotton closed quiet, middling uplands 11, middling gulf 11.25. Flour quiet but firm. Wheat steady, No. 2 red, 99 1-2 to 1.01 elevator, options 1-4 to 3-4c net higher. Corn easy, No. 2, 83 1-2 nominal elevator, options 1-4c net lower. Oats firm, mixed 58 to 59. Rosin quiet, 3.15 to 3.20. Turpentine steady at 41 1-2.

Mighty fine weather is this for taking the surf. There is nothing pleasanter these hot days.

Rumor has it that the Republicans of this State are thinking about putting up a New Hanover man as their candidate for Governor.

They say the price of beef is falling Let it fall and help it along for it has a long ways to go before it reaches reasonable figures.

The Whiteville News Reporter counts on 50,000 majority for the Democratic ticket in this State. It's going to be bigger than that. The two Bills won't stop at 50,000.

Who believes the South is going back on its former Democratic record and give any of its electoral votes to the Republican candidate for President?

Wouldn't it be horrible for the United States to dispose of her only ex-President by allowing him to be dished up as a savory meal to Central African cannibals?

The report is going the rounds that Georgia is likely to give its electoral vote to Tom Watson. The people who started such a slander on the State of Georgia ought to be indicted.

When Mr. Roosevelt gets to South Africa he will find that the "big stick" is not as effective a weapon against the cannibals as it is against refractory members of his party in this country.

Mr. Sherman resigns as chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee because of his being his party's candidate for Vice President. He had better hold on to all the positions he has.

That was a rousing reception the people of Indianapolis gave Hon. Jno. W. Kern on his return to his home as the Democratic nominee for Vice President. Mr. Kern is going to roll up a big vote for his ticket in his State.

So it seems that in changing his residence from Georgia Colonel John Temple Graves also changed his politics. He is now spoken of as the candidate for Vice President with Hearst on the Independence League ticket.

That is a very good reason Mr. Preston gives for declining the nomination for President by the Socialist Labor party—being in a State penitentiary he does not think he would be able to make an effective campaign. Mr. Preston takes a sensible view of the situation.

Of native Greeks now living in the United States about a million and a half are naturalized citizens. It is said that the recent remarks of the Minister of Greece at Washington in favor of Democracy and of the election of Bryan, will cause at least 70 per cent. of his people to vote the Democratic ticket. This will be a great gain for our party.

SWIFT PUNISHMENT

John Evans, Colored, Arraigned Tried Convicted and Sentenced Within 30 Minutes.

THE NEWS FROM RALEIGH

Firemen's Relief Fund Disbursement. Farmers' Convention Will Hear National Experts—George Washington Masonic Memorial.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 18.—Within thirty minutes John Evans, colored, was arraigned in Wake Superior Court here today on a charge of murdering his own father, Gus Evans, the jury was empanelled, a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree was returned and a sentence of thirty years in the penitentiary was imposed by Judge Walter H. Neal.

The prisoner and other members of the family contend that the father abused and misstreated the mother cruelly and had threatened to kill every member of the family. Evans went among friends to borrow a revolver, saying he wanted to kill a mad dog at his house. The father was shot four times in the back as he lay in bed, the son having fired at him through an open bedroom window.

The State Commissioner of Insurance says the impression seems to have gone out that only those towns in which premiums on fire insurance aggregate more than $6,000 can share in the Fireman's Relief Fund, the apportionment for which is being distributed to the towns just now. The fact is that every town that maintains a fire department and has apparatus valued at $1,000 and complies with the general State building inspection law is entitled to participance in this fund. The first distribution for this fund being made now aggregates nearly $7,000 and is divided among 51 towns.

The management of the annual farmers' convention to be held at the A. & M. College here August 25th, 26th and 27th, announce that three of the most prominent authorities on agriculture in the whole country have been secured to deliver addresses on various topics. They are Dr. S. A. Knapp, in charge of the demonstration work of the United States Department of Agriculture, and of the United States Department of Education; W. J. Spillman, in charge of the farm management Department of United States Department of Agriculture and Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the Georgia A. & M. College.

An appeal has come from the Fredericksburg Masonic Lodge, No. 4, A. F. & A. M., to the three lodges in Raleigh and to lodges throughout North Carolina for contributions toward the erection of a George Washington Memorial Masonic temple at Fredericksburg in celebration of the fact that George Washington was made a Mason by the Fredericksburg lodge in 1752-1753. Along with the appeal came photographs of the Bible with which Washington was obligated and the records of the lodge which Washington signed when he was raised to the degree of Master-Mason.

Fire at Hamlet Yesterday.

Passengers arriving on the afternoon Seaboard train yesterday told of a rather destructive fire that occurred at Hamlet before day yesterday morning. A tier of small buildings belonging to Mr. T. F. Boyd and valued at about $8,000 were completely destroyed with no insurance, while several other buildings belonging to E. N. Roden were destroyed. The fire was close to the Pintz gas works of the Seaboard at Hamlet and at one time promised to be widespread. Mr. John R. Sneeden, formerly of Wilmington, is now managing the hotel of Mr. Boyd and rendered splendid service in saving adjoining properly.

GREAT WEEK AT THE BEACH

Travel to Wrightsville Broke All Former Records—Outlook Bright For Coming Seven Days—Dances At Lumina.

The past week has broken all previous records for travel on the suburban line of the Tidewater Power Company and attendance upon the galeties of the season at Wrightsville Beach. Three-car trains operated on a fast schedule each half hour have been crowded each trip daily and the city junction at Front and Princess streets has presented a metropolitan appearance.

From the crack of day Monday morning every hotel and cottage on the beach has been filled to overflowing and many of the excursionists have disposed themselves on the benches at Lumina when more comfortable lodging was not to be had. The Wilmington people not only were frequent visitors to the beach but six big excursions and the visitors for the State trap shoot helped to swell the numbers. Monday night Lumina was the scene of the brilliant moonlight dance, followed by the brilliant affair the following night, complimentary to guests at the Seashore Hotel, then the mid-week dance Wednesday night and the week-end hop last evening. The fishing boat races yesterday afternoon attracted a large number to Lumina but on account of the heavy sea and a strong northeaster, these events had to be called off.

On tapis for the present week are the souvenir dance tomorrow night, the "Skiddoo Dance" Thursday evening a Japanese dance to follow soon thereafter. This in addition to the regular mid-week and week-end dance will contribute to make the coming seven days at the popular resort another record breaker.

It is estimated that the six excursions to the city during the past week brought a little more than 4,000 strangers to the city, most of whom remain in the city three days. If the present "lick" keeps us the present season at Lumina will go down in local history as the "best ever."

HEROIC ACT OF A BOY.

Brave Rescue of Companion by Little Son of Mr. Ed N. Penny.

His young friends in this city learned only yesterday of a heroic act by young Nash Penny, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Penny, of this city, who is spending the Summer with his parents at Southport. One day the past week a party of small boys were in bathing off the government pier at Southport and while skylarking on the wharf and in the water, one of them pushed young John Harper overboard in such a manner that he fell on Dock O'Quinn, one of the lads, breaking his collar bone. In 20 feet of water young O'Quinn was in great danger of drowning and in fact had already lost control of himself and was about to sink when young Penny jumped in to his rescue and swam ashore with him. It was a manly, heroic act and though Nash would tell little of the story to anyone, it finally leaked out and the young man was sincerely complimented for his heroism. Those who know the particulars of the incident say that the boy is entitled to a Carnegie medal, if anybody is entitled to one.

TROOPS PASSING THROUGH.

Seaboard Special Handled Through Wilmington Early Yesterday.

On a special train over the Seaboard Air Line, operated as second section of No. 40 arriving here at 12:45 A. M., the three military companies of Charlotte including the Hospital Corps, the Shelby and Hickory companies, passed through the city early yesterday morning on their way to Camp Glenn at Morehead City for the annual encampment of the First Regiment. The train left Charlotte at 7:15 P. M. and was handled through safely. Maj. C. H. Gattis, of Raleigh, traveling passenger agent of the Seaboard, was in charge of the movement and stopped over in Wilmington yesterday to see the baseball game and spend Sunday at the beach.

Mr. Pate is Sole Owner.

The prgressive real estate firm of Pate Tesh & Co., which has been existing for some time in Wilmington under the management of the above named co-partnership, changed hands yesterday and the style of the new firm is The A. W. Pate Company, Mr. Pate purchasing the interest in the business of Mr. B. E. Tesh. The firm will continue business at the same location, No. 204 Princess street. Mr. Pate is an experienced and capable real estate dealer and has met with splendid success in his vocation.

Funeral of Mr. I. T. Alderman.

The remains of the late Mr. I. T. Alderman, of Tomahawk, accompanied by members of the family and friends, reached the city on the Fayetteville train last night and the funeral will be conducted at 9:30 o'clock this morning from Grace M. E. Church. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery. Many friends of Mr. Alderman will attend the obseques.

THEY STRIKE TENTS

Eleventh Annual Encampment, Boys' Brigade of America, Ended at Southport.

A SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

Colonel Taylor Commends The Members of the Battalion For Fine Service and Excelent Deportment—Arrived Yesterday.

With the break of day yesterday morning the two divisions of the First Battalion, Boys' Brigade of America, which have been encamped the past ten days at Southport, N. C., struck tents and a short while thereafter the boys and all camp paraphernalia were on board the steamer Wilmington bound for headquarters in this city, arriving shortly after 9 o'clock.

Members of the Brigade were soon around the city again, tanned in spots, a litle weary of camp routine but delighted in every way with the success of their eleventh annual outing. From the steamer wharf the Junior and Senior divisions of the command marched in unbroken phalanx to their armory, Second and Church streets, where they were formally dismissed by Col. Walker Taylor, the genial commandant. The encampment was declared by all to have been a perfect success, some impressions of the life having been given from day to day in these columns by those who have had opportunity of knowing. In his last order to the Brigade on Friday, breaking camp, Col. Taylor took the opportunity to express to each member of the organization, individually and collectively, his profound gratitude and high appreciation of the uniform courtesy shown and prompt and willing performance of every duty assigned, thereby making the encampment one of, if not the most beneficial and successful ever held. Special acknowledgment was made by Col. Taylor, through Capt. C. C. Loughlin, to the members of the Junior company for their gentlemanly bearing during the entire time.

Col. Taylor concludes his order with the admonition to the members of the Brigade that it is incumbent upon them to show their appreciation of the consideration shown them by their employers, by resuming their work with renewed energy, faithfulness and fidelity, thereby convincing their employers of the benefits derived from the organization and its encampments.

In this connection Col. Taylor quotes an article from the Southport Herald which is as follows: "The Brigade has been encamping here every Summer for the past eight years. Not a single unpleasant incident has happened during the years that the boys have been visiting us."

The breaking of camp and delivery of all equipment and utensils on board the steamer was in charge of Lieutenant Price and a detail of his own selection. The company began to strike tents at 5 A. M. and everything was aboard the steamer before 6:30 A. M.

MARRIED IN FLORIDA.

Mr. E. C. Davis Claims Miss Lelia Pillans as His Bride.

Many Wilmington friends of Mr. E. C. Davis, a son of Mrs. N. E. Davis, No. 113 South Fifth street, this city, will be interested in an account of his marriage to Miss Lelia Pillans in the Lakeland, Fla., News of July 10th. The bride is an attractive young woman, a daughter of Mr. W. P. Pillans, a well known merchant and councilman of Lakeland. Mr. Davis is an engineer on the Lakeland yards of the Coast Line and is held in the highest esteem by the people of his adopted city. After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Davis spent a part of their honeymoon at Green Springs and are now visiting relatives and friends in North Carolina.

NEW GROVE OF DRUIDS.

Organizer Frank P. Meier Establishes Branch of Order at Hamlet.

Mr. Frank P. Meier, State Organizer of the United Ancient Order of Druids, returned yesterday afternoon from Hamlet, where he has just worked up a new grove of the splendid organization which he has done so much to build up in North Carolina. The new branch of the order will be known as Oak Grove No. 5, and it is composed of 35 charter members from among the leading citizens of Hamlet. The charter list will be left open for a while yet and a little later a team from Olive Grove, of this city, will go up to Hamlet to institute the new grove.

Judge Biggs Will Preside.

A regular term of New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of the criminal docket, will convene tomorrow week for a two week's term. Judge J. Crawford Biggs, of the Ninth Judicial District, will preside, having exchanged courts with Judge C. C. Lyon. At the present time on the Superior Court docket are 130 cases, including three for capital offenses. This session of court will greatly relieve the congested condition of the docket.

TRAVELING MEN BANQUET

Delightful Affair by Cape Fear Council, United Commercial Travelers at Hotel Tarrymoore Last Night—The Toasts.

More than a hundred members of Cape Fear Council No. 374, United Commercial Travelers, and their guests last night sat down to an elegant banquet at the Hotel Tarrymoore, Wrightsville Beach, the occasion having been one of the most delightful of the season at this splendid resort.

The dining room of the hotel had been most artistically decorated and the menu served in most acceptable manner, embracing all the delicacies of the sea and other tempting viands. Mr. Lynn H. Burnett, a past councilor of the order, was master of ceremonies and under his capable guidance everything passed off most happily. Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, occupied the seat of honor and asked a very fervent blessing upon what was about to be enjoyed. The address of welcome to the guests was by Mr. Chas. N. Evans, cashier of the Southern National Bank, of Wilmington, and what he had to say was eminently fitting and cordial. The only two set speakers of the occasion were Rev. Dr. Wells, who spoke eloquently and impressively of the "Beauties of Unity, Charity and Temperance," the three great principles which actuate the order, and Mr. Hugh MacRae, president of the Tidewater Power Company, whose name is a synonym for progress and prosperity. Mr. MacRae had for his subject "Wilmington and Its Possibilities" and his theme was well developed and most optimistically treated. Both the addresses were much enjoyed by the large number of local and visiting traveling men in attendance.

The menu served during the evening was as follows:

Little Neck Clams
Queen Olives Chilled Tomatoes
Broiled Spanish Mackerel au Burre
Cucumbers Pommes de Terre
Soft Shell Crabs on Toast
Carolina Wafers
Deviled Crabs Shrimp en Mayonnaise
Sorbet Fantaisie
Filets de Mignons a la Bernarde
Snowflake Potatoes Petis Pois
Chocolate Cream
English Pound Cake
Edam Cheese Saltines
Cafe Noir
El Principes Cigarettes

The banquet was a fitting climax to a most enthusiastic business meeting of the Council held in the city yesterday afternoon when ten candidates were initiated and other business of interest to the fraternity was transacted. The party returned from the beach at an early hour this morning on a special car of the Tidewater Company, placed at their disposal.

BIJOU TOMORROW.

"An Interrupted Romance" Will be the Offering on Monday.

"An Interrupted Romance" will be the offering at the Bijou, on North Front street, tomorrow. A loving couple are endeavoring to have a few minutes to themselves undisturbed, but just as they are settled and the young Romeo is about to pour forth his story of love, along comes an old woman selling baskets who tells the young man's fortune. She stays so long the impetuous lover shoves her over and resumes his wooing. A newsboy comes to tantalize them and then a policeman, who runs them out of the park. They are going out when a man runs into them with a bicycle. They next go to a quiet nook by a stream where a fisherman butts in. The young man remonstrates and finally they come to blows. Next they sit under a tree and are pelted with apples from above. Then they return to the park, a dashing young fellow comes along, wins the girl and leaves the ragged fellow in the suds. It is amusing all through.

WILLIAM ANDREW YOPP DEAD.

Well Known Citizen and Truck Farmer Passed Away Last Night.

Mr. William Andrew Yopp, a well known Wilmington citizen and a truck farmer near town, died last night at 9:30 o'clock after an extended illness at his home, No. 413 Queen street, aged 55 years. Mr. Yopp was born in Onslow county and is survived by seven children, Messrs. S. O., A. T., William Yopp, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mrs. Mamie Yopp, Mrs. Lena Yopp and Mrs. J. J. Shepard, all of Wilmington; also his mother and two brothers and one sister, all of Onslow. The remains will be taken tomorrow morning to Holly Ridge and the interment made in the family burying ground near there.

Residence of Mr. Emerson Entered.

The residence of Mr. T. M. Emerson, on Dock street, which is closed for the Summer, was ransacked within the last few nights, quickly following the burglary of the residence of Mr. Samuel Northrop only a few nights before. A number of articles were stolen in each instance but nothing of any great value. The police are very anxious to co-operate with residents who go away for the Summer and leave their houses closed. They would be very grateful if the location of the residences would be left at the City Hall in order that the officers may exercise a special care in looking after them at night.

In one of the fastest, snappiest games seen here this season Wilmington made it five out of six from Raleigh yesterday afternoon in a score of one to nothing. It was largely a pitcher's battle from start to finish in which Bussey for Wilmington let the visitors down with one hit while only three were yielded by Payne, a mute rifleman, who was on the slab for Raleigh. Bussey was rather generous in the issuance of passes, but this liberality was with infinite discretion and netted nothing in the run column.

Wilmington turned the trick in the sixth inning after Bussey had fanned. Sharpe was safe on an error of Hill at short; Hoey was hit by a pitched ball in spite of Kelly's admonition to His Umps to polish up his lamps, Kite forced Sharp at third but Doak sent one with whiskers on down in left field and Hoey did a high-dive stunt at the plate that cinched the game. It was seriously endangered in the ninth, however, when Kelly was safe on error of Sharpe; Farmer fanned and Fox was safe on another error of Sharp, Kelly going to third. Dawson was up and Kite threw to second ostensibly to cut off a steal by Fox, the ball, however, being swiftly returned, catching the King at the home plate. Dawson flew out to short, ending the game.

Levi, the new pitcher for Wilmington, was in the game yesterday and showed up in excellent form. He is six foot two and a half in altitude and swings at 'em in most likely sort of fashion. He was in left field yesterday. He comes from the same League as Bussey and Kite and that is sufficient to commend him to the Wilmington supporters of the game.

First Inning—Hoffman walked and got second on passed ball; Hill fanned; Kelly out pitcher to first. Farmer out, short to first. Wilmington: Sharpe popped out to short; Hoey safe on wild throw, short to first; Hoey out stealing second; Kite singles through short; Doak hit through third but Captain Smith struck out.

Second Inning—Fox fanned; Dawson popped out to Rath; Reid fanned. Wilmington: Jayes out third to first; Levi out second to first; Rath out pitcher to first.

Third Inning—Warren flew out to short; Payne fanned; Hoffman singled over third; Hill out third to first. Wilmington: Bussey flew out to short; Sharpe to second; Hoey to short.

Fourth Inning—Kelly fanned; Farmer flew to Rath; Fox to second. Wilmington: Kite out short to first; Doak third to first; Smith fanned.

Sixth Inning—Hoffman drew transportation; Hill sacrificed; Kelly flew out to centre and Hoffman was doubled to Rath at second. Wilmington: Bussey fanned; Sharpe safe on error of Hill at short; Hoey was hit by pitched ball; Kite forced Sharpe at third; Doak singled to left and Hoey scored; Smith flew out to Kelley in right, retiring the side. One run, one hit and one error.

Seventh Inning—Farmer out pitcher to first. Fox flew to centre; Dawson walked; Reid up and Dawson stole second, but Reid was out second to first. Wilmington: Jayes flew to centre; Levi walked; Rath flew to right; Bussey fanned.

Eighth Inning—Wrenn flew to Levi; Payne fanned; Hoffman walked; Hill fanned. Wilmington: Sharpe flew out on a difficult catch to Hoffman; Hoey to Kelly at third; Kite short to first.

Ninth Innings—Kelly safe on error of Sharpe; Farmer fanned; Fox safe on another error of Sharpe, Kelly going to third; Dawson up and Kite threw to second, who returned the ball swiftly and caught Kelly at home

THE POLITICAL BATTLEFIELD.

All indications point to the fact that the States of the Middle West and the Northwest will furnish the political battle-ground in the approaching presidential election, Indiana being the storm centre of the contest. It is claimed that because of Mr. Kern being placed on the ticket the Democrats will carry that State, and this claim seems to be based on good foundation. At the time this nomination was made we were inclined to the opinion that our party had made a mistake in selecting the two candidates from relatively the same section of the country; that the Vice President should have been from the East or from the South; but more recent events show that the party did well in its selection of a man for second place on the ticket. The Democrats stand a good chance with the ticket nominated of carrying the great State of New York, and as New York goes so will go New Jersey and Connecticut. No other ticket could have given our party better chances in these three States. In the South the ticket will sweep the field. That is conceded on all sides. It is true there are some extra enthusiastic Taft men who think the Solid South will be broken, but they will learn better on election day. So the question is narrowed down to this: Mr. Bryan has a good show in two of the Middle States and one of the New England, and with Kern on the ticket his chances in Indiana and other of the States of that section of the country are greatly strengthened, with the brightest prospects of success that the party has had in many years. A strong pull and a pull all-together by the Democrats this time will land their man in the White House as sure as fate.

A UNITED DEMOCRACY.

One of the best indications that Bryan will win this time is the unanimity with which those papers of the country which opposed his nomination have come to his support since he has been declared the nominee of their party. The papers which have not taken this course compose a very small minority of those who favored the nomination of some other man as the party's candidate. We take it that all those who have announced their allegiance to Mr. Bryan are sincere in their statements and will be diligent and earnest in their support of the party's nominee. It bodes well for the ticket that the Democratic press of the country has so unanimously declared for him, especially that those which opposed his nomination have so heartily come to his support since the Denver convention. It means that Mr. Bryan has behind him the solid strength of the Democratic press of the country, which wields a power almost invincible. He will have no stronger advocates among the papers of his party than many of those which openly advocated the nomination of some one else. This shows how united the Democratic party is this time and how determined it is to win the victory.

A REMARKABLE LEGISLATIVE BILL.

Down in Georgia there is a politician named Glenn. He in some manner and by some means, mysterious to the general public, secured election to the Legislature. Georgia, like all other States of the Union, at times lets a crank or a freak slip into her legislative body, but she has never before been so remiss in guarding her legislative halls against this class of citizens whose proper peace is in a lunatic asylum. By way of parenthesis we will say this Georgia legislator is not a relative of the Governor of this State. This Georgia member of the Legislature has introduced the following bill in that body:

"If any woman, whether maid or widow, shall betray into matrimony any unsuspecting male subject of the State by paints, perfumes, cosmetics, artificial teeth, false hair, iron stays, padding, hoops, high-heeled shoes, V-cut waists, lace, variegated, dropstitched or rainbow hosiery or by any other deceitful means or artful practices, the marriage, upon conviction, shall become null and void."

We presume there will be a let-up in politics in this State until the 26th of August, when the Republican convention meets to nominate a State ticket. Then we may look for things to liven up. Indications are that the Republicans will put an unusually strong ticket in the field and will make a hard fight. They will make a desperate effort to increase their vote and the Democrats should be on their guard. Of course, our party will carry the State, but we must not be content with a bare victory; we must strive for and be determined to carry the State by an increased majority—by such a one as will snow under and completely rout the forces of our political enemy. This we can do if the men of the party will stand shoulder to shoulder and present a solid front to the Republicans.

In another column we publish an appeal to the farmers of the country from Messrs. Bryan and Kern for contributions to the Democratic campaign fund. Mr. Bryan is determined that he and his party shall not be under obligation to the corporations and the big capitalists for the funds necessary to pay the expenses of the campaign. He and the managers of his campaign want the expenses of the same to come from those most interested in the success of the Democratic ticket.

How absurd is the report being circulated that the electoral vote of Georgia will be cast for Tom Watson. Surely no one believes that State's Democracy will fall so far from party allegiance as to permit anything of the sort.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—A Tennessee exchange prints a story about a man who was afraid to kick his dog because the animal had swallowed some dynamite. The Republican party is displaying a similar reluctance in the case of the colored vote this year.—Washington Post.

—Another Jew has exhibited some of the remarkable quality of his race. Selig Brodetsky, a Russian Jew, twenty years old, son of poor parents that emigrated from Odessa to England when the boy was five, has won a Senior Wranglership at Cambridge, sharing honors with a young Englishman. This is the highest distinction that can be won at the university, and seems to mark the brilliant young Hebrew for distinguished honors in literary or public life.—Columbia Star.

—Sir Walter Parratt, the newly appointed professor of music in Oxford University, is an enthusiastic chess player. On one occasion he undertook to play two men at once and at the same time play on the pianoforte from memory pieces selected by those present from any of the classical writers for that instrument. He not only played brilliantly during the games—never once looking at the chess board—but conversed with several persons, who did their best to distract him. The game lasted an hour, and Sir Walter was the victor. His pianoforte selections while the game was in progress came from such giants as Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and Chopin, and he afterward explained that for the greater part of the hour he had been intensely interested in the efforts of a fly to disentangle itself from a spider's web!—Chicago News.

—"The statement of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor that he will support Bryan does not mean that the labor vote will be cast for the Democratic candidate," said William S. Jordan, of Lake Charles, La., at the Willard. "Gompers made similar announcements in other elections. He set out to defeat Speaker Cannon and also Representative Littlefield, but in each case he was unsuccessful. So the Gompers declaration does not amount to much, in my opinion. The South will be solidly for Bryan," added Mr. Jordan. "I believe the Democratic ticket stands a better chance of election this year than in either 1896 or 1900, but Bryan is working under a handicap, nevertheless. A candidate who has been twice defeated, no matter how much strength he may gather, always has a disadvantage. Many people have lost confidence in the Nebraska man, and thousands will not vote for him because they do not want to support a loser.—Washington Post.

—In an interview in Chicago, according to a dispatch published in The Sun yesterday, Mr. John W. Kern, of Indiana, the Democratic nominee for Vice President, is quoted as saying: "'Predatory wealth' is a term which I do not use. * * * For myself I hope to be able to convince voters that capital honestly invested and enterprises that are being honestly conducted have nothing to fear from the Democratic party." The tone of Mr. Kern's remarks is mellow and gracious. It is as if his vocal chords had been greased with the oil of gladness. It suggests that the corporations might pluck up courage enough after awhile, if Mr. Kern continues to roar so gently, to ask "Who's afraid anyhow?" To be sure, there is Mr. Taft, who is supposed to have inherited a certain fierceness from President Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt's legatee, he is required to don the garb of a most ferocious enemy of "predatory wealth." And even if he should prove later on to cherish a terrible and vociferous hatred of the corporations—the "bad trusts," of course, which the late Senator Hana declared might exist, although he didn't identify them—his running mate, Hon. James Sherman, of New York, might exert a restraning influence upon him. For, so far as is known, Mr. Sherman, who has a most intimate and far-reaching acquaintance with corporations, has never proclaimed to the world the discovery of a really wicked one. He seems, indeed, to be reconciled to all of them.—Baltimore Sun.

* * *

Mrs. Horace Emerson is the guest of Mrs. Lionel H. Love, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parsley, on Masonboro Sound.

* * *

Friends in this city will be glad to learn that Col. W. B. Fort and Miss Pearl Fort, of Pikeville, N. C., are guests at the Seashore Hotel.

* * *

The many friends in this city of Miss Nan Clark and Miss Leila Phillips of Tarboro, will be glad to learn that they are guests at the Seashore Hotel.

* * *

The many friends of Miss Martha Williams are glad to learn that she has returned after a visit of several weeks to Atlanta, Ga., and is now a guest at the Union Cottage on Wrightsville Beach.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McMillan, of Fayetteville, arrived during the past week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Neil D. Emerson, at their cottage on Wrightsville Beach.

* * *

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Crow and little son, Master Jack, will be interested to learn that they left the city during the past week for Buena Vista, Md., where they will spend several weeks.

* * *

Mr. John S. Armstrong, Mr. John S. Armstrong, Jr., and Misses Beulah and Margery Armstrong left the city on Monday to join Mrs. Armstrong and little daughter Dorothy, who are spending the Summer in Buena Vista, Md.

* * *

The host of friends in this city of Mr. James Iredell Johnson of Raleigh, were pleased to welcome him during the past week, when he came to attend the annual gun club tournament. Mr. Johnson being an enthusiastic sportsman.

* * *

Miss Madeleine deRosset left yesterday for Concord, N. C., where she has gone to be the guest of Mrs. John Craven. Miss deRosset will also visit friends in Charlotte for a few days and will be absent from the city for several weeks.

* * *

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Lionel H. Love will be pleased to learn that they have returned from the West and are visiting Mrs. Love's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parsley, at their attractive Summer home on Masonboro Sound.

* * *

Miss McCarthy and Miss Phelps, of Richmond, Va., are guests at Mrs. Wm. Parsley's cottage on Wrightsville Beach. They have many friends in this city who will be glad to learn of their arrival, as they have been guests in Wilmington on several different occasions.

* * *

Miss Nell Waldo, of Atlanta, Ga., who was a popular visitor at Wrightsville Beach last Summer, arrived on Tuesday and is a guest at the Seashore Hotel. Miss Waldo has but recently left Tarboro, where she has been on a very pleasant visit of several weeks to Miss Isabel Clark.

* * *

Mr. Pierre Holmes is the host of a very delightful house-party, which he is entertaining at the home of his mother on South Third street, and which will continue for a week or ten days. Those who are Mr. Holmes' guests are Mr. Robert Holmes, Dr. J. W. Stanley, Miss Annie Hill Holmes, Miss Lucretia Wilson, of Greensboro. Miss Kate Huske, of Winston, was also expected, but her friends will regret to learn that she has thus far found it impossible to attend.

* * *

A delightful "marooning party" which was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Latimer, on Bradley's Creek, returned to the city during the past week. The young people who composed the party were Miss Mary Owen Green, and Miss Elizabeth Johnson, of Raleigh, who is her guest, Misses Nora Corbett, Janie Meares, Theressa Parsley, Helen Williams, and her guest, Miss Jannie Wetmore of Greensboro, and Messrs Robert Cronly, Merrill Blair, Willie Sprunt, Allan Fechtig, Hugh Calder, Charlie Lynch, and Barclay Loder.

The marriage of Miss Edith Butler the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Butler, and Mr. Harry F. Kydd, of Vancouver, B. C., which took place on Wednesday evening of last week, was one of the prettiest wedding that has occurred in Wilmington for many months past. The home was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and a profusion of cut flowers, while myriads of candles shed their soft glow over all, and blended in harmony with the display of flowers. The bride wore a handsome and becoming dark brown traveling suit, while the attendants, the five little girls in Miss Butler's Sunday School class, were prettily attired in dainty lingeries dresses. They were Misses Dorothy Nash, Katharine Elliott, Lucy Murchison, Kate Northrop, and Frances Bailey. Immediately after the ceremony a delightful reception was held. The best wishes of all their friends follow the young couple to their new home in Vancouver, B. C., where they will reside in the future.

The guests of the Seashore Hotel were given a complimentary dance at Lumina on Tuesday night by the Tidewater Power Company, and hundreds of persons from the city were present to add to the pleasant occasion. The well known Nixon orchestra, which has a season contract with the Seashore Hotel, was present, and attended with Kneissel's orchestra in furnishing the splendid music. No intermission occurred and the dancing was continued without a break, which was a pleasant innovation and easily solved the problem of a sometimes over-crowded floor. The feature of the evening, however, occurred when the orchestra played, "Dixie," for the entire crowd broke into wild cheers, an suddenly there appeared in the person of Mr. R. W. McKeithan, of Brunswick county, an enthusiastic old Confederate "Vet," who, unable to restrain his enthusiasm longer, gracefully executed an old-time clog dance to the strains of the inspiring music, the entire floor being left to him by the dancers, and the onlookers, bursting forth at regular intervals with prolonged cheers, made Lumina ring with its wild applause. The Seashore has several hundred guests, numbering some of the most popular and attractive young ladies in the Southern States, and the dance given to them on Tuesday evening was voted a large success.

* * *

Lumina has been the mecca of pleasure seekers during the past week. The "moonlight dance" on Monday night was perhaps the most beautiful entertainment of its kind ever occurring at Wrightsville Beach. A large crowd was present to witness and participate in the dance, and the scene was indeed a beautiful one. The entire pavilion was festooned with beau-

RETURNING PROSPERITY

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—With the present crop prospects of the country as a basis for optimism the Manufacturers' Record says this week:

"Taking the whole country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the lakes to the gulf, the crops were put into the ground under more favorable conditions of weather and of cultivation than ever before. An abundant supply of labor, due to industrial depression, made it possible to thoroughly prepare the soil for planting and to thoroughly cultivate it since. With the exception of limited areas, weather conditions have been remarkably favorable, and as a whole the outlook indicates the most abundant yield which our land has ever known. The fruit trees everywhere are breaking beneath their load; the wheat crop and oat crops promise to be equal to the largest ever gathered, or, if they fall short at all, only to the extent of a few million bushels; while throughout the South the cotton and corn fields are in splendid condition, freer from grass than for many years, and the sugar plantations of Louisiana indicate an exceptionally favorable outturn as compared with last year. Everywhere the song of prosperity is heard in the agricultural regions, and once more, with his work well begun, the farmer has already much more than half passed the danger point and can now almost with safety count on a continuation of the splendid prosperity of the last four or five years. Under such conditions, and with reviving industrial activity, evidences of which are seen in many drections the time is near at hand when every idle locomotive and every idle car will be in demand, and when once again there will be a scramble for transportation facilities greater than has been the scramble of the railroads for freight during the last six months. We have turned the corner, and ahead of us is the long straight road of business prosperity."

June records show continued activity in building operations in Southern cities. Building permits during the month in Baltimore, reppresent $668,050; in Norfolk, Va., $179,450; in Richmond, Va., $246,707; in Knoxville Tenn., $62,910; in Memphis, Tenn., $354,855; in Birmingham, Ala., $553,895, and in Dallas, Tex., $129,860. Savannah, Ga., issued permits for 30 buildings and Jacksonville, Fla., issued permits for 62 buildings. In the latter city during the first six months of the year permits were issued for 390 buildings.

NEW BERN, N. C.

"A case of albuminuria, in which the patient was Anaemic, Extremities Puffy, Appetite Poor, despondent and very weak, with general symptoms of Bright's Disease. On testing the urine for albumen the Subsident Flocculi occupied one-third of the tested fluid. After using one case of the LINCOLN LITHIA WATER, the Subsided Albumen occupied not more than Five Per Cent. of the volume of fluid tested, and after using the second case the particles of albumen were Barely Perceptible. LINCOLN LITHIA WATER has acted like magic in Albuminuria of Pregnancy. I have made personal tests, where the LINCOLN LITHIA WATER has been used, and can certify to my own knowledge to the foregoing facts. My attention was called to the above case by Dr. F. W. Hughes, the attending physician.

THE "RAILROAD DOLLAR"

Recounts Some of Its Numerous Adventures Since Dropping Out of Sight During the Recent General Agitation.

"Hello, there," said the grocery merchant to the railroad dollar, "first time I've seen you in a year. You used to drop in every now and then—where have you been so long?" "O, I've been away out in the 'Era of Conscience,' rubbing up against the civic righteous and helping to hoist the standard of public morality—see?" "How's that and where'd you operate that you couldn't get around to me sooner? The grub question is about the biggest thing down here." "Yes, I know it," said the railroad dollar, "and last year, as you know, I was in it and with you several times. A section hand got me from the pay car and paid me to you for coffee, you sent me to South Texas for ribbon cane molasses, the railroad got me again and sent me to East Texas to buy ties, a mill hand paid me to a merchant for a jumper, the merchant sent me back to Uvalde, Tex., for a shipment of honey, a goat man got me and went to the Fat Stock Show, I was paid to a Central Texas stockman as a premium, he paid me out for a ticket to get home, the same railroad got me again and paid me to the same section hand, and I was back to see you again inside of three months."

"That's so," said the grocery merchant, "but tell me more of what you have been doing the past year. I've sure missed you and your pals in my business and I'd like to renew the old arrangement." "Well, in the first place," said the railroad dollar, "the company paid me to the State as intangible taxes, the State paid me to a lawyer who was trust-busting around over the country, the lawyer took me and went to New York after muckrake statistics and spent me in a Chink restaurant. I thought it was me for China, but the Chink spent me for meat and for a while it looked like I'd get back on my old run; but the butcher gave me in change to a very long-faced person whose goodness was hurting him a right smart and who turned out to be an anti-horserace statesman. He paid me to the Reform League for a book telling how many people had committed suicide at Monte Carlo, how many clerks had robbed the till in New York, and how long the present civilization would last if not reformed.

"The book concern, which also published a magazine, sent me to Boston in part payment to a reform writer for a scathing arraignment of the 'interests,' and the reform writer spent me for a book of statistics. O, I've had a time with the big brains and savers of States and things." "But how did you get away finally, and make it back to Texas?" asked the groceryman. "Well, after many ups and downs in my reform work, I drifted over into Maine, and a reform lecturer, who was just starting to Texas to advise the people how to vote on State-wide prohibition, got hold of me by accident. He paid me to the railroad for a half-fare clergy ticket, and here I am again, after so long a time, in the channels of trade." "But what real good did you do in all that round of reforming and regulating business?" asked the groceryman.

"Well, from all I could gather from the general talk, the Governor of South Carolina has been forced to quit making remarks to the Governor of North Carolina, Mr. Beveridge is still Senator, President Roosevelt has written several red-hot messages, the President's son has a good job with the steel trust, and it's a felony to bet on a horse race in New York." "That may be counted great work as the times go," said the groceryman, "but I can't see much in it. I hope you'll get back on your old circut around among the railroad boys, the merchants, the truck growers, the lumber mill hands, and so on." "So do I," said the railroad dollar, "but the section hand who paid me to you today is laid off indefinitely on account of tight times, and that don't look good to me." "Nor to me, either," said the groceryman," and this is a matter that needs looking into. I'll mention it at the Galveston meeting for 'Fewer laws and better laws.'" And he did.—Current Issue.

$35,000 STOCK OVERSTOCKED MUST BE SOLD

$35,000.00 Stock of Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Suit Cases and Gents' Furnishings to be turned into money in a hurry.

The Great Sale Now Going On in Full Blast

The Gigantic Stock of J. W. H. FUCHS, 128, 130, 132, 134 and 136 South Front Street, Wilmington, N. C., to be sold by J. L. Stern & Co., of New York. Owing to the fact that these goods are marked so ridiculously cheap, it will be absolutely impossible to charge any goods during this sale.

TO THE PUBLIC:—At the beginning of the Season we purchased an immense amount of Merchandise, but, owing to the lack of business, we find ourselves overstocked, and, believing our first loss to be the best, we have decided to sacrifice our large stock.

WE MUST UNLOAD, IRRESPECTIVE OF COST OR VALUE! Therefore we ask the people of Wilmington and vicinity to come and see REAL, GENUINE BARGAINS. It means a terrible sacrifice, but experience tells us this is the best thing to do, and we know the people of Wilmington and vicinity will respond, as we have never exaggerated a single statement or misled them in any way, and don't intend to. WE WILL REFUND THE MONEY ON ANY ARTICLE PURCHASED IF NOT PERFECTLY SATISFACTORY IN EVERY RESPECT.

Respectfully, J. W. H. FUCHS.

This Sale will be a record-breaker, for never has there been offered to the public such genuinely true Bargains as will be during this Sale.. HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY, and this motto will be the foundation of this Sale. We caution you to read every line on this page, then COME and SEE. Don't buy anything until you come and look over OUR stock and prices.

NOTICE.—Mr. J. W. H. FUCHS has been in business and one of Wilmington's most trustworthy and honorable merchants for many years, and could have disposed of the stock to much better advantage, but preferred placing same in the hands of a well-known and reliable concern who deal with the people on the Same honorable lines that have marked his long career in business. Respectfully yours, J. L. STERN & CO.

We have secured the services of MR. J. L. STERN, of the firm of J. L. STERN & CO., New York, the man who has achieved conspicuous success from ocean to ocean as the original sale conductor. This sale will be under MR. STEARN'S personal supervision The store is is now closed to allow us to re-arrange and re-mark every article in the store.

tiful Japanese lanterns, and the central lights over the floor went to the production of a most realistic moon. Beautiful shades of vari-colored lights played upon the danvers while various assortments of "men in the moon" gazed enchanted on the fairy scene, and Kneissel's splendid orchestra most opportunely played, "Afraid to Go Home in the Dark," and other popular airs. The spectacular feature of the dance has never been surpassed at Wrightsville, and it is spoken of with much enthusiasm by all who witnessed it. Beautiful silk fans were given as souvenirs. The dance will be repeated shortly and it will not only be attended by those who participated in the one of Monday night last, but by those as well who have heard the enthusiastic praise of their friends since the production. The mid-week and Saturday night dances were largely attended, and Lumina is fast exceeding its own wonderful reputation for popularity.

Beaufort, N. C., July 18.—In compliment to the visiting clergy of the East Carolina Diocese who were here in conference with Bishop Strange and many other visitors the past week, Beaufort has been crowded with many social events. On Monday afternoon Miss Hinton, of Raleigh, entertained on a surf and sail party. The same evening Mrs. M. A. Mace gave a complimentary moonlight sail to Baltimore young ladies and on Tuesday Mrs. Thos. Thomas gave a surf party complimentary to Bishop Strange and his guests. The party left at 4 o'clock on the "Ripple" and went to the surf. After a delightful surf bath a basket supper was served at Royal's cafe. The party returned at 11 landing at the Davis House pier, where many cheers were given for the hostess of the evening. Wednesday morning Miss Ella Davis gave a card party in honor of Raleigh young ladies and on Wednesday evening Mrs. D. R. Davis, of Newbern, entertained on a sailing party. The party went to Morehead where dancing was enjoyed. Thursday evening Mrs. T. A. Uzzell, of Newbern, gave a sail to Fort Macon and on Friday morning Miss Louise Harlow gave a bridge party at St. Paul's dormitory. Friday evening Miss Minnie Davis entertained.

Kenansville, N. C., July 18.—A house-party opened here at the James Sprunt Institute on Tuesday and a large and happy crowd of young people are on the hill. They have been coming in all the week and up to date, not a dull moment has passed. The beautiful campus and shady groves have been alive with merry laughter and picnic songs all the week and the J. S. I. buildings never looked more attractive. They are tastefully decorated with bamboo, ferns and rare flowers that grow only in the old North State. Japanese parasols and huge lanterns hang above the tables in the dining hall, when three hours each day the gay party assembles around the lovely tables. Mrs M. H. Johnson has charge of the house-party. She is the charming matron of the Grove Academy here. Among those who have come in up to date are Misses Marie Long, of Statesville; Estelle O'Berry, of Goldsboro; Mary Wright, of Coharie; Mary Colvin, of Atkinson; Keith Covington, of Wilmington; Laura Cromartie, of Clarkton; Lucile Withers, of Charlotte; Callie Newton, Fannie May Farrior, Lucile Williams, Bessie Hinson, Ruth Shaw, Misses Cooper. The following gentlemen are in attendance: Messrs. A. B. Croom, of Burgaw; H. H. Pearsall and Dr. J. G. Murphy, Milton McIntosh, of Wilmington; Dr. L. B. Evans, of Clarkton; E. E. Murphy, of Atkinson; I. W. Murphy, of Greensboro; Sam Edwards, of Sellars, S. C.; Matt H. Allen, of Newbern; W. A. Allen, of Kinston; C. S. Carr, of Rose Hill; Dr. J. A. Ferrell, L. McNeill, C. C. Shaw, D. S. Hines, of Kenansville, and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Ward, of Wallace as chaperones. On Thursday night the members of the house-party gave a grand reception to all the people of Kenansville. They turned out in full numbers and for three hours a reception was held in the main building. Misses Long, Wright, Newton, Colvin, Hinson and Cooper entertained the large party with delightful vocal and instrumental music. Miss Clara Hinson and C. C. Shaw served refreshments in the cottage building. It was a beautiful night and everybody enjoyed the evening greatly. Every day members of the party have taken trips into the country. Many delightful drives in buggies, carts and on horseback have been taken during these ten days. All kinds of delicious fruit has been on hand daily. On Sunday the party attended church services at Grove Church and heard Rev. W. M. Shaw in an able sermon. Boat riding will be another attractive feature for the remaining days. The ladies unanimously voted the gentlemen the cleverest and best lot of fellows in all the world and they in turn voted the ladies the finest between the seas.

CONTROVERSY SETTLED

Robeson County Affairs Finally Adjusted With Satisfaction to All. News and Personal Notes From Metropolis.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., July 18.—The people of Robeson county are sincerely glad that the controversy which has existed for several months between the County Commissioners and County Board of Audit and Finance, has at last been settled, and all differences adjusted. The large number of friends of ex-Sheriff George B. McLeod are delighted at the manner in which the affair has been settled. They have felt all the time that an error had been made somewhere in his accounts, and the findings of the joint committee of the commissioners and board of Audit and Finance have sustained the belief of Mr. McLeod's friends instead of his indebtedness to the county as had been claimed, it was found that he had paid in about $400 more than he should have paid, which amount has been refunded to him. Messrs. J. P. Stansel and A. T. Parmele were the special accountants employed in the matter by the joint committee.

Mr. R. D. Caldwell is greatly improving the appearance of his residence lot by substituting brick and cement curbing in place of the wooden fence. A portion of the grounds, 50 feet in width running the full length of the lot south of the residence is to be improved and put in condition to be used as a lawn.

At the quarterly meeting of the directors of the First National Bank held Tuesday, a dividend of 2 1-2 per cent. was declared and $1,000 was added to the surplus fund.

The residence of Sheriff E. C. McNeill came near being destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, as the result of a spark falling from a flue into an adjoining room. The fire screen and a cot whih was near the fire place were nearly consumed when discovered, attention being attracted by smoke coming from the room.

We understand that work has been resumed grading on the Virginia & Carolina Southern Railroad at St. Paul's heading for Hope Mills. We trust the road may be speedily completed to that point.

Among those who attended the meeting of the stockholders of the Lumberton Cotton Mill Wednesday, was Mr. W. L. Mitchell, of Fairmont. Mr. Mitchell's name heads the list of stockholders, he being the first purchaser of stock when it was offered for sale about ten years ago, but the meeting this week was the first he ever attended.

Among the cases tried in criminal court here last week, was two white women, 60 years or more of age, charged with retailing. Judgment was suspended upon condition that the defendants pay the cost and each give $500 bond for their appearance at each term of the court for two years and satisfy the court that they have not been guilty of again engaging in the liquor traffic.

Mr. Lewis, of Kinston, State Manager of the Woodmen of the World, spent Thursday in this section.

Many friends in Lumberton are delighted to learn that ex-Treasurer Thomas Kinlaw expects to return to Lumberton with his family so as to have the advantage of the graded school.

The picnic and educational rally at Ten-Mile Baptist Church Thursday, given by Cedar Camp W. O. W., was a great success in every way. The crowd present was estimated at 800 to 1,000 people, and everybody seemed to have a good time. Appropriate addresses were made by Messrs. Geo. B. McLeod, E. M. Britt, Thos. R. Johnson and E. J. Britt. A sumptuous dinner was served in the grove, and the supply of fruits and melons was unlimited. At night several young ladies of the community gave an entertainment for the purpose of raising funds to assist the Woodmen in furnishing their lodge room. About $25 was realized.

It is expected that a large crowd will go from here to Wilmington on the big Sunday School excursion on the 24th.

A large number of young people from town attended a watermelon party given by Messrs. Boon Brothers at their truck farm four miles from here Thursday evening. Over 20 couples drove out in buggies and in addition to the number going in that way, Mr. H. M. McAllister carried out a load on his touring car. After spending an evening of much pleasure those who attended returned home singing praises for the Messrs. Boon.

A farmer living about ten miles in the country came to town yesterday bringing a load of produce, composed of chickens, eggs and several bushels of corn. He stated to the writer that he and his wife cultivated last year, with one mule, 35 acres in corn, from which they gathered 700 bushels. They have no children and hire no help on their farm. They believe in raising something to eat, only planting a small amount of cotton. The gentleman said he owned no cows but raised a good many hogs and chickens beyond counting. While at first he thought the stock law would ruin everybody, he did not see now how people would get along without it.

A party of young men who went several miles up the river on a moonlight excursion Thursday night on a gasoline launch, did not return as soon as they intended. About the time they were ready to start back down the river, they struck a log under the water which knocked off the propeller. They were left at the mercy of the waves, so to speak. All they could do was to let the boat float down stream with them. In the meantime one of the party fell overboard and some time after midnight, while floating slowly down stream, he decided that he must go ashore or freeze. When an opportunity presented itself he jumped out on the land and started off on a run to try to warm himself up but had only gone a short distance when he found himself hanging to a barbed wire fence. However, he managed to get away and got home just in time to retire before daylight. The remainder of the excursionists arrived about 3 o'clock A. M.

Mr. M. B. Schocket, for some time a resident of Lumberton, but moved to Wilmington a year or two ago, has returned here with his family and expects to make this their future home.

Mrs. Eugene Wright and little son of Bluefield, W. Va., arrived here last night on a visit to relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morris went to Wilmington last night. Mr. Morris will return tomorrow evening but Mrs. Morriss will remain there for some time.

Mrs. Stephen Lane and child and Mrs. William Proctor of Dillon, S. C., are visiting at the home of Mr. W. W. Carlyle.

The Red Bird Baseball team (Colored), of Lumberton, will go to Wilmington Monday morning to play against a team of that city for three days. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. In the Lumberton team is said to be some good players.

—Charlotte, July 17.—Miss Hattie Havis, a young woman of this city who has been filling a position as stenographer with the Charlotte Supply Company, has disappeared from her home and the city and surrounding country are being searched high and low, but nothing has been heard from the girl. Miss Havis was at the home of her sister last night, and nothing unusual was noticed in her conduct. She has been in poor health for some time and grave fears are formed over her sudden disappearance. The girl may have left on an early morning train for the South, as a party who stated that he believed he could identify her declared that she was seen at the Southern Railway depot about 7 o'clock this morning. Miss Havis came to Charlotte from Vicksburg, Miss., about two years ago and has been residing with her sister here since that time.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

Free to You and Every Sister Suffering from Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.

I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousnss, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney and bladder troubles when caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten day's treatment is yours, also the book. Write today, as you may not see this offer again. Address

GREAT OVERSTOCKED SALE

Big Establishment of J. W. H. Fuchs Has Something Doing Now.

The big stores of J. W. H. Fuchs, Nos. 128 to 136 South Front street, will be the mecca for bargain seekers all during the coming week. Some time ago Mr. Fuchs realized that he was overstocked on many desirable lines of fashionable men's wear and furnishings and the firm of J. L. Stern & Co., the great sales managers of New York, was engaged to conduct a sale that would readily convert the surplus into cash. Mr. J. L. Stern, the head of the firm, came in person to direct the sale and for the past week a great force of clerks and marksmen have been busy slashing prices to suit the mid-Summer stringency. That they have succeeded in touching rock bottom, a few prices quoted in a page advertisement elsewhere in today's paper will evidence. Mr. Stern, who is directing the sale, says the people have never had a finer opportunity of buying seasonable merchandise at practically their own price. He was pleased to find the stock in excellent condition and is satisfied that all sales records in Wilmington will be broken in this gigantic offering. Read the ad. for particulars.

Carolina Yacht Club Tourney.

Tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday nights the qualifying trials for the bowling alley tournament to be rolled on the alleys of the Carolina Yacht Club on Wrightsville Beach will be held and 16 players will be qualified. Preliminary games will be rolled in the presence of other members of the club, the contestants drawing for partners and rolling three games each on Thursday and Friday nights. The winners in the finals will draw partners and roll three games on Thursday, July 30th, when the championship game will be played.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Rev. W. L. Rexford, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, will preach at Bradley's Creek this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The people of the community are invited to hear him.

—The schooner Lejok, Capt. Cressey cleared port yesterday for San Domingo, West Indies, with a cargo of lumber from the S. & W. H. Northrop Lumber Company; vessel by C. D. Maffitt.

—The current number of the Salvation Army official organ, the War Cry, presents a beautiful cover of a mid-Summer scene to typify what is being done by that great organization towards giving a glimpse of heaven to a slum waif.

—A ten-days' series of revival services, conducted by Rev. G. A. Martin, assisted by Rev. A. C. Chaffin, at Wells' Chapel, in Sampson county, closed Firday. Rev. Mr. Martin returned home yesterday and reported most interesting meetings.

—Rev. F. M. Osborne, of Charlotte, who is spending his vacation at Wrightsville Beach, will occupy the pulpit of St. James at the regular hours today. Early Communion at 7:45, morning service at 11 A. M., and evening service at 6 o'clock. Rev. R. W. Hogue and family are spending some time at Beaufort, N. C., and Rev. Mr. Osborne will likely occupy his pulpit each Sabbath while Mr. Hogue is away.

President International Tailoring Company Agrees for Ten Days.

Of course, everybody has heard by this time of the great sale of International clothing made to order that has been in progress at the store of I. Shrier, northeast corner of Front and Princess streets. The sale has been the talk of the town and how the fabrics have been sold at the remarkable low prices that they have has been marvelous and nothing short of it. The telegram to Mr. Ed L. Davis, which is reproduced in another column tells the whole story. The sale will last by special request just ten days longer and for this sale a great number of new patterns have just been expressed and will reach here this week. A word to the wise is sufficient.

BRICK PLANT ENDANGERED.

Disastrous Blaze on Castle Haynes Road Yesterday Morning.

The persistent work of a bucket brigade saved the large brick manufacturing plant of Roger Moore Sons & Co., which had a close call yesterday morning, when fire consumed 75 cords of wood at the brick yard, located about one mile from the city, on the Castle Hayne road.

The fire burned rapidly and a call was sent in to the city fire department for help, but the plant being outside the city limits, it was unnecessary to respond. However, Chief Schnibben went and directed the work of fighting the flames. Mr. J. R. Hardee, superintendent of the county farm, rendered timely assistance by bringing a force of convicts to the scene and the fire was soon under control, the company sustaining a loss of about $150.

AT MOORE'S CREEK.

Annual Meeting of Monumental Association Held Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Currie, N. C., July 17.—The annual meeting of the Moore's Creek Monumental Association met here today. All the old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. The annual picnic will be held August 13th under the superintendency of President Jas. F. Moore. The place has been considerably improved. The small oaks are growing and will soon make a good shady grove. We now have the necessary buildings to shelter the crowds.

Bond Required of Davis.

A decision in the case of W. J. Davis, who was given a preliminary trial Wednesday of last week, on the charge of receiving stolen goods, knowing the same to have been obtained by that means, was rendered yesterday by Justice Bornemann and he was bound over to higher court under bond of $100. The case is one in which Mr. John Poole's room was robbed and the clothes were afterwards found in the possession of Mr. Davis, who runs a second-hand goods store. The court held that the defendant should have known from whom he bought the goods and suspicious circumstances in connection with the case, particularly the small price paid for the goods, should have warned him that they had been falsely obtained.

CROWDS INSPECT SHIPS

Atlantic Battleships Fleet Thronged With Visitors—Various Forms of Entertainment Prepared for American Officers.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Honolulu, July 18.—The Atlantic battleship fleet kept open house today and throngs of visitors crowded the decks of the big fighting machines from early morning until sunset. The launches from the fleet and the harbor boats were busy throughout the day, bearing the guests of the fleet back and forth.

The foreign population of the city turned out in swarms to inspect the ships, Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos, Hawaiians, and many other nationalities being prominent in the crowds of sightseers.

Ashore the officers attended a lue, or native feast, which was concluded with a dance with Hawaiian girls decked out in wreaths and chains of blossoms in accordance with native customs. The men wandered at will about the city. Games and athletic sports of many kinds were offered for their amusement.

The officers were also guests of the entertainment committee on an excursion to Pearl Harbor, the site of the proposed naval station. The trip was made over the picturesque route of the Eshu railway. Rear Admiral Sperry today returned the official visits of the foreign consuls. Mrs. F. M. Swansey tonight gave a dance in honor of the officers of the fleet.

Monday night Chief Justice Hartwell, of the Supreme Court, will give a dinner to Rear Admiral Sperry and the entertainment committee will provide amusement for the enlisted men in the form of a grand ball at Waikiki beach. On account of the insufficient sleeping accommodations on land the shore leave of the sailors has been limited to 1 o'clock A. M. each morning.

SALOON NEGRO STABBED.

Some Excitement on South Front Street Early Last Night.

At the saloon of E. S. Shipp, across from Front Street market, late yesterday afternoon as that district was crowded with people making Saturday afternoon purchases, some excitement was created by the stabbing of Jasper Hill, a young negro employed at the saloon, by Joe Kirkham, a white man, with whom the negro had trouble earlier in the day. Hill was stabbed in the back, just below the shoulder on the left side and was sent to the hospital by Capt. Smith where the wound was dressed and he was returned to the guard house, later giving bond to appear in police court Monday and answer the charge of engaging in an affray. Kirkman was locked up on a charge of an assault with a deadly weapon. The arrests were made by Officer J. T. Smith, who was on duty in the vicinity. The negro is not seriously injured and returned to his work after being bonded by his employer last night.

MAGISTRATES AS WITNESSES

Two of Them Offered Testimony in Case of H. Smith.

When G. Malachias, a Syrian, appeared before Justice Bornemann yesterday morning to have a peace warrant issued against H. Smith. whom he claimed had threatened him injury, the latter was being tried before Justice Furlong for disorderly conduct. Immediately after this hearing and while Smith was being held in Justice Furlong's office to await the payment of the cost he was re-arrested by Officer Branch.

The second case was in Justice Bornemann's court and the evidence submitted in the first hearing was afterwards offered by Magistrates Furlong and Sykes and Constable Savage in the trial of Smith on the peace warrant. The case was one of much interest and it developed that the defendant was innocent of the charge according to the evidence and he was discharged. Malachias having been taxed with the cost.

GAVE POISON TO CHILDREN

Pastor's Wife in Fit of Insanity Used Carbolic Acid.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Norfolk, Va., July 18.—Returning to his home this afternoon, at 116 Washington street for dinner, Rev. W. A. Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, found his wife, 3-year-old son and 8 months old daughter in a precarious condition from carbolic acid poison administered by Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Brown has been ill for some time with nervous trouble, and in a fit of momentary insanity administered the poison to the children and then took it herself. Tonight Mrs. Brown has rallied but the 2 children are in precarious condition. Attending physicians fear all three will die. Mrs. Brown was Miss Ramsey, of Alexandria, Va.

The mother and 2 children were lying in the former's room. The cook in the kitchin down-stairs busy preparing dinner knew nothing of the condition of Mrs. Brown and the children until the alarm was given by Mr. Brown immediately following the discovery.

The minister, calling hurriedly for assistance applied every antidote he could until the doctors arrived on the scene and took charge of the patients.

MAY REDUCE WAGES.

N. & W. Submits Proposition to Employes For Second Time.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Roanoke, Va., July 18.—For the second time the Norfolk & Western Railway has submitted to its employes a proposition looking to a reduction of 9 per cent. in wages. The proposition has been submitted to the general chairmen of the various labor organizations identified with the road and it will be voted on by every lodge of the different orders throughout the system. The answers are to be given by August 12 next.

Tea Table Etiquette.

A hundred years or more ago there was a quaint tea table etiquette. It was considered a lack of courtesy to take much cream or sugar in one's tea Etiquette demanded that the tea should be tasted from the spoon and that the hostess should then inquire, "Is your tea agreeable?" Modern women would be shocked by a fashionable lady of those days who cooled her tea with her breath, yet Young wrote of a certain bewildering Lady Betty:

Her two red lips affected zephyrs blow
To cool the Bohea and inflame the beau.
While one white finger and a thumb conspire
To lift the cup and make the world admire.

DOES THIS SUIT YOU?

J. Frank Jarman, the enterprising Druggists of 107 Princess street, Wilmington, N. C., are having such a large run on "HINDIPO," the new Kidney Cure and Nerve Tonic, and hear it so highly praised that they now offer to guarantee it in every case to cure all forms of Kidney Troubles and Nervous Disorders.

They pay for it if it does not give you entire satisfaction.

If you use it, it is their risk, not yours. A 50 cent box sent by mail under positive guarantee.

The Insufferable Anticipation.

A young Scotch emigrant was brought before the magistrate of a Nova Scotia court, charged with having deserted his work on a certain farm without giving due notice to his employer. When asked what he had to say in his defense, he replied, "Weel, they gied me nout but brakeshaw to eat." Brakeshaw, it may be explained, is the flesh of animals which have died a natural death. "How was that?" asked the magistrate. "Weel, it was this way. Ye ken, the auld coo deed an' we ate it, the auld steg (gander) deed an' we ate it, the auld soo (sow) deed an' we ate it, the auld bubblejock deed an' we ate it. Then the old woman deed—an' I left."—Bellman.

Hindoo Confectionery.

Like the American girls, Hindoo girls are passionately fond of sweet things. One of their candies, sadu, is very much like our plain sugar candy It is made of sugar and milk and flavored with attar of roses. Buddhiha bal, or hair of Buddha, is one of their most popular sweetmeats. It is so called because it is in fine, long strings like vermicelli. This is made of sugar and cream from buffalo's milk, which is exceedingly rich.

A Queer Twist.

The late Bishop T. U. Dudley of Kentucky declared that he was indebted to a mountaineer of that state for the most ungrammatical sentence he ever heard. This is it:

"Them three Miss Blake are three of as pretty a gal as I ever see."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Mt. Olive Tribune: Our tobacco warehousemen are making big preparations for the opening of the market here the first of next month, and seem to be greatly encouraged with the prospects for the market.

—Chatham Record: Three or four weeks ago a partridge nest was found on the farm of Mr. L. B. Gunter, of this township, in which were two hen eggs. Last Saturday when the nest was again seen a partridge had hatched all the eggs, and in the nest were the young partridges and two chickens.

—Wadesboro Messenger: According to the returns of the tax listers as they now stand the taxable value of the land and personal property of the county is approximately $178,467 greater than last year. This does not include bank stock, corporate excesses railroads and other public service corporations.

—Spartanburg, July 17.—Spartan Mills, Whitney, Arkwright and Tucapaw, which closed down on June 30th for a period of thirteen days, resumed operations yesterday morning. As far as could be learned no help was lost during the shut-down, but rather, the operatives made use of the two weeks as a holiday. There were about six thousand operatives idle when the mills shut down, but they did not scatter, and as far as can be learned the mills started up yesterday with full help.

—Raleigh Times: Joe Bailey, the young New Light farmer, who was accused a day or two ago of the charge of disturbing public worship at a Primitive Baptist meeting, the jury having been later dismissed by Judge Walter Neal because he believed they grossly failed to do their duty in not rendering a verdict of guilty, is to be before the court again next Tuesday. This time he is charged with perjury having been brought into court on a bench warrant after the grand jury had found a true bill against him.

—Asheville Citizen: The United States Circuit Court of Appeals held a session this morning with the following judges in attendance: Judge Nathan Goff, of West Virginia; Judge J. C. Pritchard, of Asheville; Judge Edmund Waddill, of Virginia; Judge James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, and Judge Dayton, of West Virginia. It is understood that a large number of very important cases will be decided during the term of court here. The court sessions are being held in Judge Pritchard's offices. A session will be held every morning at 10 o'clock.

—Charlotte Observer: The two-story dwelling situated on the corner of East Third and South Caldwell, known as the Kitty West house, was badly burned and probably irreparably damaged by fire shortly after midnight this morning. It was just a few minutes before 12 when the inmates, colored, of the building discovered the fire and began to scream and turn out. After some delay the alarm was turned in nearby. A young negro man named Crawford found a baby in a bed during the excitement and brought it out in safety. The inmates had evidently lost sight of it in their wildness.

—Kinston Free Press: Mr. Nat Russell, the clever engineer on the passenger trains of the N. & S. was the first victim of the freak ordinance recently passed in Newbern against trains standing upon street crossings, making a break therefore punishable by five days in the city lock-up. Mr. Russell proved conclusively by several witnesses—despite the mayor and the cop—that the train had remained at the station no longer than two minutes. Of course the case against him was dismissed and Mr. Russell continues his run as usual. Just how far the ordinance will be pushed no one knows, but it will probably land in the Supreme court, if ever enforced.

—Duplin Journal: The indictment of the county commissioners for "neglect of duty" in failing to build a big new court house in place of the present fine old county court house, which has so long been the temple of justice and the seat of law and order in Duplin county is regarded with disgust by the people who have grown much attached to old court house and who see no cause for a new building so long as Kenansville retains the proud and time-honored air of an ancient country village of 200 years ago. The indictment and trial only add additional cost to county court and probably a small fee to one of our local attorneys, unless the commissioners submit the case to any intelligent jury which would at once bring in a verdict of "not guilty," and attach complainants with the cost.

—Smithfield Herald: At the meeting of the stock-holders of the Smithfield Cotton Mills held here Monday a dividend of 100 per cent. was declared ,payable in stock certificates. This shows how successful the mill has been managed by its capable and efficient officers—W. M. Sanders, president, and F. K. Broadhurst, secretary and treasurer and general manager, and an able board of directors Few mills anywhere have succeeded so well—paying an annual dividend of 6 per cent.—as to make enough to double its capital within a few short years. All stockholders are requested to return their stock certificates to the secretary and treasurer and get a new certificate for double the amount of the one they now hold.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

An Appeal by Bryan and Kern to the Farmers.

Lincoln, July 17.—The first appeal for campaign contributions by the Democratic candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency was issued today directed to the farmers of the country. It is as follows:

"To the farmers of the United States:

"The first contribution made to the Democratic campagin fund this year, so far as we know, was made by an Iowa farmer. Just before the Denver convention met, this man, who modestly prefers not to have his name mentioned, journeyed more than one hundred miles to Lincoln with his contribution of one hundred dollars, which he left with Mr. Bryan to be given to the committee when organized for the campaign.

"This farmer was born in Sweden and for some time after he was naturalized was a member of the Republican party. But he was a student of public questions and in the course of time became a Democrat. To manifest his deep interest in the success of the party and in triumph of Democratic principles he made this free will offering to campaign fund.

"It is very appropriate that this first contribution should come from that great body of our population known as agriculturists. The farmer has nothing to gain by privilege and favoritism; his hope is in the application of the doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.' He has been the victim of all special legislation and has suffered from control of politics by the great predatory corporations. Now that the Democratic party has announced its determination not to accept contributions from corportations and not to accept excessive contributions even from individuals and to publish all contributions when over a reasonable minimum it ought to be able to secure a sufficient sum from the citizens who ask from the government nothing but protection of their rights and consideration for the general welfare. There are hundreds of thousands of farmers who are abundantly able to contribute to the campaign fund. There are thousands who could give $100 a piece without feeling it; there are tens of thousands who could give $50 a piece without a sacrifice, and still more who could give $25 or $10 or $5.

"As the national committee has not yet been organized, we will ask The Commoner to call for subscriptions to this farmers' fund. Those giving may indicate whether they are willing to have their names mentioned and if the contribution is not more than $100 their wishes will be complied with. All contributions above $100 must be made known no matter from whom they come.

"The farmers' fund will be turned over to the national committee as soon as its permanent officers have been selected. Who will be the first to respond? The Denver convention was a people's convention; it adopted a strong, clear, honest platform and its nominations were made with practical unanimity. Our fight is a fight for the whole people. Our aim is equal and exact justice to all; our purpose is to restore the government to the hands of freely chosen representatives of the voters. How many farmers will join in furnishing the fund necessary to present the issues?

(Signed.) "WILLIAM J. BRYAN.
"JOHN W. KERN."

VALUE OF STORY TELLING

Important Feature of Instruction at University Summer School.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Charlottesville, Va., July 18.—To those interested in any phase of English work the course in Story Telling, conducted by Mr. Wyche, President of the National Story Tellers' League, has been one of the most interesting and instructive features of the Summer School of the University of Virginia. The importance of story telling by the teacher as a part of the work in literature and English cannot be too strongly emphasized, and although Mr. Wyche has left, his work is being continued by a committee from the faculty who realize its value. Every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings from seven to eight some member of the committee has charge of the story telling hour on the Rotunda steps and many timid teachers, who have hitherto found self-expression difficult, have been induced to tell a story at this time. We feel sure that the practical benefit of these experiences will be evident in their next year's work.

In addition to its practical value this hour serves to draw students together in a delightful informal meeting and the joint singing of old plantation melodies, which follows the story telling, is a refreshing close to a day of ardous mental labor; for if there is one more striking feature of the Summer School of 1908 it is the intense application of the student body to their work, an earnestness of purpose that expresses most potently their appreciation of the unusual advantages offered them here.

This course in Story Telling is one in which Mr. J. J. Blair and Miss Lina O. Wiggins, both representing the Wilmington Schools, are much interested, and in which they are doing active work.

At present we have here an enrollment of more than 850 students, representing twenty-six States and the interest and enthusiasm is great.

It Reached the Spot.

Mr. E. Humphrey, who owns a large general store at Omega, O., and is president of the Adams County Telephone Co., as well as of the Home Telephone Co., of Pike County, O., says of Dr. King's New Discovery: "It saved my life once. At least I think it did. It seemed to reach the spot—the very seat of my cough—when everything else failed." Dr. King's New Discovery not only reaches the cough spot; it heals the sore spots and the weak spots in throat, lungs and chest. Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. THE Princess Virginia

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON,

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor," "Rosemary in Search of a Father," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"Gad—little Jenny Brett! I didn't half appreciate her brilliant qualities."

"Yet I would wager that she appreciated yours."

The prince shrugged his shoulders. "I believe she really cared something for me—a month ago."

"Then she still cares. You are not a man whom a woman can forget, though pique or ambition may lead her to try. I tell you frankly I believe that Providence sent your royal highness here at this moment, and my best hopes are now pinned on you. You—and no one as well as you—can save the emperor for a nobler fate. Even when I supposed you a stranger to this lady who calls herself Helen Mowbray I thought that if you would consent to meet her and exercise your fascinations there might be hope of averting the danger from my master. Now I hope everything. I beg, I entreat, that your royal highness will send up your name and ask the lady to see you without delay. She will certainly receive you, and when the emperor learns that she has done so it may go far to disillusion him, for, pardon me, your royal highness has a great reputation as a lady killer. Still more valuable would be, however—indeed, he would be cured of his infatuation forever—if—if"—

"If what?" inquired the young man, tired of the chancellor's long windedness and beating about the bush.

"If you could persuade her to go out to your hunting lodge. Then Leopold and Rhaetia would be saved by you. What could be better? What could be more suitable?"

"What, indeed," echoed the prince, "for every one concerned except for Jenny Brett?"

"Considering the havoc she has worked among us all, need she be considered before the interests of a great country and, perhaps I may hint, an innocent and lovely royal lady whom this girl is doing her best to humiliate?"

"I'm hanged if she need be so considered! Anyhow I'll do what you ask. I'll send up my card, and then we'll see what happens."

The prince took from his pocket a small gold case sparkling with jewels, a trifle which advertised itself as the gift of a woman. Out of this came a card, with a crown over the name in the fashion of his country and some others. An equerry waiting in an adjoining room was summoned, the card given to him, passed on to a hotel servant, and then for five minutes, ten minutes, the old man and the young one waited, talking of a subject very near to both their hearts.

At last, when they had no more to say, word came that Lady Mowbray and Miss Mowbray would see his royal highness.

"The value of a well regulated mother!" laughed the young man, who had not troubled to inquire for Lady Mowbray. "Well, whatever comes of this interview, chancellor, I shall presently have something to tell you."

"The suspense will be hard to bear," said Count von Breitstein, "but I have perfect faith in you. We understand each other completely now, but I'm growing old, and the past few days have tired me sorely. Remember, I pray you, all that's at stake and do not hesitate for an instant. Have no false scruple with such a person as this. The emperor will soon arrive in Kronburg. He'll lose no time in trying to find the girl, and once they've had another meeting all our plans, all our precautions, may be in vain. He searches for her to offer his crown."

"I'll send up my card."

The prince listened and did not smile as he went out.

He had bidden the chancellor await his return in the salon of the royal suit, which was always kept at his disposal when he appeared in the neighborhood, as he often did since purchasing the hunting lodge a few miles out of Kronburg in the forest.

Other foreign royalties or lesser princes from the provinces occasionally occupied the apartments also, and this handsome royal highness of today was not the only one whom the chancellor of Rhaetia had visited there. He knew by heart the rich purple hangings in the salon, with the double wolf head of Rhaetia stamped in gold at regular intervals on the velvet, and he sickened of their splendor now as the moments dragged and he remained alone.

When half an hour had passed he could no longer sit still on the purple velvet sofa, but began walking up and down, his hands behind him, scowling at the full length oil painted portraits of Rhaetia's dead rulers, glaring a question into his own eyes in the long, gold framed mirrors—a question he would have given his life to hear answered in the way he wished.

Three-quarters of an hour had gone at last, and still the chancellor paced the purple drawing room, and still the prince did not come back to tell the news.

Had the young man failed? Had that siren upstairs beguiled him, as she had beguiled one stronger and greater than he? Was it possible that she had lured the whole secret of their scheme from the prince and then induced him to leave the hotel while her arch enemy fumed in the salon, awaiting his return?

But, no; there were quick footsteps outside the door. The handle was turned. At least his royal highness was not a traitor.

As the chancellor had confessed, he was growing old. He felt suddenly very weak. His lips fell apart, trembling, yet he would not utter the words that hung upon them.

Fortunately the prince read the appeal in the glittering eyes and did not wait to be questioned.

"Well, I've seen the lady and had a talk with her," he said in a voice which was, the old man felt, somehow different in tone from what it had been an hour ago.

"And is she the person you have known?"

"Yes, she's a person I have known. It's—it's all right about that plan of yours, chancellor. She's going with me to the lodge."

"Heaven be praised! It seems almost too good to be true. When does she go?"

"At once—that is, as soon as she can get ready. She will dine with me, and my equerry will stop behind and eat the dinner I had ordered here."

"Magnificent! Then she will go with you alone? Nothing could be better. The presence of the alleged mother as chaperon would be a drawback."

"Oh, no chaperon is needed for us two. The—er—mother remains at the hotel with a la—a companion they have, who is ill. It was—er—somewhat difficult to arrange this matter, but I don't think the plot I have in mind now will fail, provided you carry through your part as smartly as I have carried mine."

"You may depend upon me. Your royal highness is marvelous. Am I to understand that the lady goes with you quite of her own free will?"

"Quite. I flatter myself that she's rather pleased with the invitation. In a few minutes I and the fair damsel will be spinning away for a drive in my red motor—you know, the one which I always leave at the lodge, to be ready for use whenever I choose to pay a flying visit. I shall keep her out until it's dark to give you plenty of time, but before starting I'll telephone to my chef that, after all, I shan't be away and he must prepare dinner for two."

"I also will send a telephone message," said the chancellor.

"To Leopold?"

"Yes, your royal highness. This time there will be no uncertainty in my words to him. They will strike home, and even if he should not be intending to come to Kronburg tonight they will bring him."

"You are sure you know where to catch the emperor?"

"He'll telephone me from Felgarde when he has found those he sought are not there, as he will, and I must be at my house to receive and answer his message. It will soon be time now."

"Very well; all that seems to arrange itself satisfactorily," said the prince. "Our motor drive can be stretched out for an hour and a half. The lady will then need to dress. Dinner can be kept back till half past 8, if it would suit your book to break in upon us at the table. My dining room isn't very grand, but it has plenty of light and color and wouldn't make a bad background for the last act of this little drama. What do you say, chancellor? I've always thought that your success as a stage manager of the theater of nations was partially due to your eye for dramatic effects."

"Such effects are not to be despised, considering the audience we cater for in that theater."

"Well, I promise you that for our little amateur play tonight in my private theater the footlights shall be lit, the stage set and two of the principal puppets dressed and painted for the show before 9. I suppose you can introduce the leading man by that time or a little later?"

The bristling brows drew together involuntarily. Count von Breistein was working without scruple against the emperor for the emperor's good, yet he winced at his accomplice's light jest, and it was by an effort that he kept a note of disapproval out of his voice.

"Unless I much mistake, his majesty will order a special train as soon as he has had my message," said he. "That and everything else falling as I confidently expect, I shall be able to bring him out to your royal highness' hunting lodge a little after 9."

"You'll find us at the third course," prophesied the prince.

"Naturally the emperor's appearance will startle your visitor," went on the chancellor, keenly watching the young man's extraordinarily handsome face. "She would not dare take the risk and drive out with you, great as the temptation would no doubt be, did she dream that he would learn of the escapade and follow. Indeed, your royal highness must have found subtle weapons ready to your hand that you so soon broke through the armor of her prudence. I expected much from your magnetism and resourceful wit, yet I hardly dared hope for such speedy, such unqualified success as this which now seems assured to us."

"My weapons were sharpened on my past acquaintance with the pretty lady," explained the prince; "otherwise the result might have been postponed for as many days as I have delayed moments, though at last the end might have been the same."

"Not for Rhaetia. Every instant counts. Thanks to you, we shall win, for, actress as this girl is, she'll find it a task beyond her powers to justify to a jealous man this evening's tete-a-tete with you."

"If she tests those powers in our presence, we can be audience and admire her histrionic talents," said the prince pleasantly, though with some faint, growing sign of constraint or perhaps impatience. "There's no doubt in my mind, whatever may be the lady's conception of her part, about the final tableau. And, after all, it's with that alone you concern yourself, eh, chancellor?"

"It's that alone," echoed the old man.

"Then you would like to go and await the message. There's nothing more for us to arrange. Au revoir, chancellor, till 9."

"Till 9."

"When the curtain for the last act will ring up."

The prince held out his hand. Count von Breitstein grasped it and then hurried to his electric carriage, which had been waiting outside the hotel. A few minutes later he was talking over the wire to the emperor in the railway station at Felgarde.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

LEOPOLD thought it rather more than possible that by the time of his return to Kronburg the chancellor would be as anxious to wriggle out of his proposal to visit the prince's hunting lodge as he had been to have it accepted a few hours before.

"He shan't escape his humiliation, though," the emperor told himself. "He shall go, and he shall beg forgiveness for his suspicions in sackcloth and ashes. Nothing else can satisfy me now."

Thinking thus, Leopold looked sharply from the window as his special slowed into the central station at Kronburg along the track which had been kept clear for its arrival. No other train was due at the moment; therefore few persons were on the platform, and a figure in a long gray coat, with its face shadowed by a slouch hat, was conspicuous.

The emperor had expected to see that figure, but vaguely he wished there were not so much briskness and self confidence in the set of the massive head and shoulders. The young man believed absolutely in his love, but he would have been gratified to detect a something of depression in the enemy's air which he might translate as a foreknowledge of failure.

"I hope your majesty will forgive the liberty I have taken in coming to the station without a distinct invitation to do so," were the chancellor's first words as he met the emperor. "Knowing that you would almost certainly arrive by special train, I came down from my house some time ago that I might be on hand without fail when you arrived to place my electric carriage at your service. I thought it probable that you would not have sent to the palace and therefore it might save you some slight inconvenience if I were on the spot. If you will honor my poor conveyance"—

"Don't let us delay our business for explanations or compliments, if you please, chancellor." The emperor cut him short brusquely. "I counted on your being here with your carriage. Now for the hunting lodge in the woods."

As he spoke his eyes were on the old man's face, which he hoped to see fall or change, but there was no visible sign of discomfiture, and Von Breitstein made no attempt to excuse himself from making the proposed visit. Evidently nothing had happened during the hours since the message by telephone to change the chancellor's mind.

"Yes, your majesty," came the prompt response. "Now for the hunting lodge in the woods. I am ready to go with you there, as I always have been and always shall be ready to serve you when I am needed."

It was on Leopold's tongue to say that it would be well if his chancellor's readiness could be confined to those occasions when it was needed, but he shut his lips upon the words and walked by the old man's side in frozen silence.

The carriage was waiting just outside the station, and the moment the two men were seated the chauffeur started noiselessly and swiftly.

Both windows were closed to keep out the chill of the night air, but soon Leopold impatiently lowered one, forgetting the chancellor's old fashioned hatred of drafts, and stared into the night. Already they were approaching the outskirts of the great town, and, flying past the dark warehouses and factories of the neighborhood, they sped toward the open country.

The weather, still warm the evening before—that evening of moonlight not to be forgotten—had turned cold with morning, and tonight there was a pungent scent of dying leaves in the air. It smote Leopold in the face with the wind of motion, and it seemed to him the essential perfume of sadness. Never again would he inhale that fragrance of the falling year without recalling this hour.

He was half mad with impatience to reach the end of the journey and confound the chancellor once for all, yet as the swift electric carriage spun smoothly along the white road and landmark after landmark vanished behind tree branches laced with stars something within him would at last have stayed the flying moments had that been possible. He burned to ask questions of Von Breitstein, yet would have died rather than utter them.

It was a relief to the emperor when after a long silence his companion spoke, though a relief which carried with it a prick of resentment. Even the chancellor had no right to speak first without permission from his sovereign.

"Forgive me, your majesty," the old man said. "Your anger is hard to bear, yet I bear it uncomplainingly because of my confidence that the reward is not far off. I look for it no further in the future than tonight."

"I, too, believe that you won't miss your reward," returned the emperor sharply.

"I shall have it, I am sure, not only in your majesty's forgiveness, but in your thanks."

"I'll forgive you when you've asked my pardon for your suspicions and when you've found Miss Mowbray for me."

"I have already found her and am taking you to her now."

"Then you actually believe in your own story? You believe that this sweet and beautiful young girl is a fast actress, a schemer, a friend of your notoriously gallant friend and willing to risk her reputation by paying a late visit unchaperoned to him at his hunting lodge in the woods? You are, after all, a very poor judge of character if you dream that we shall see her there."

"I shall see her, your majesty, and you will see her unless the madness you call love has blinded the eyes of your body as well as the eyes of your mind. That she is now at the lodge I know, for the prince assured me with his own lips that she had promised to motor out alone with him and dine."

"You mean he told you that his friend the actress had promised. I'll stake my life even he didn't dare to say Miss Mowbray."

"He said Miss Brett, the actress, it's true, but when he called upon her at her hotel, where he and I met to discuss a matter which is no secret to your majesty, he asked for Miss Mowbray. And the message that came down I heard. It was that Miss Mowbray would be delighted to see his royal highness. This left no doubt in my mind that after giving out that she would leave today the lady had remained in Kronburg for the express purpose of meeting her dear friend the prince, the handsomest and best dressed young man in Europe—after your majesty, of course. And it was quite natural for her to hope that, as she was supposed to be gone and you were following her, this evening's escapade would never be discovered."

See Kodol Digest

Put any mixture of food in a test tube, under proper conditions, and one can see Kodol act. The food is digested at once, and completely. No other digester meets that test. Note our guarantee.

We guarantee the action of Kodol. Please note the offer below.

We claim that Kodol does all that a healthy stomach can do. That it digests any food, at once and completely.

Please prove this at our risk. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and note how Kodol acts. Note the absence of pain, of fermentation, of gas.

Don't doubt facts that mean a great deal to you, when they are easily proved.

There are many ways to digest part of the food, but Kodol alone digests all of it.

Pepsin digests albumen, but not starch or fat. So the many digesters depending almost solely on pepsin are only partial helps.

A complete digester must be a liquid, for some of the needed elements can't be given dry. They must be preserved in glass.

That is why Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. The result is, its action is instant. It even begins in the mouth, by starting the flow of saliva.

The cure of indigestion requires, above all, that you relieve the stomach.

Tonics and stimulants only spur it to action, like whipping a tired horse. Weak organs never gain strength by forcing.

But digestion is necessary, else the food grows hard and irritates the stomach lining. It ferments, and forms gas, and breeds germs. It decays, and loads the blood with poisons. And all the food that fails to digest fails to nourish you. Your digestive powers are bound to grow weaker so long as those conditions continue.

A weak stomach must have rest. Treat it like a lame ankle. Don't tax it. Don't allow undigested food to disturb it. Let Kodol, for a little time, do the stomach's work. Then note how quickly nature cures, when it has the chance.

Some people try to relieve the stomach by dieting, but that means partial starvation.

The body requires variety in food, and when you limit that variety you are robbing some part. That isn't the way to gain strength.

A person who suffers from indigestion needs nourishment. Needs it more than a well person. The right way is to eat the food you need, then let Kodol digest it.

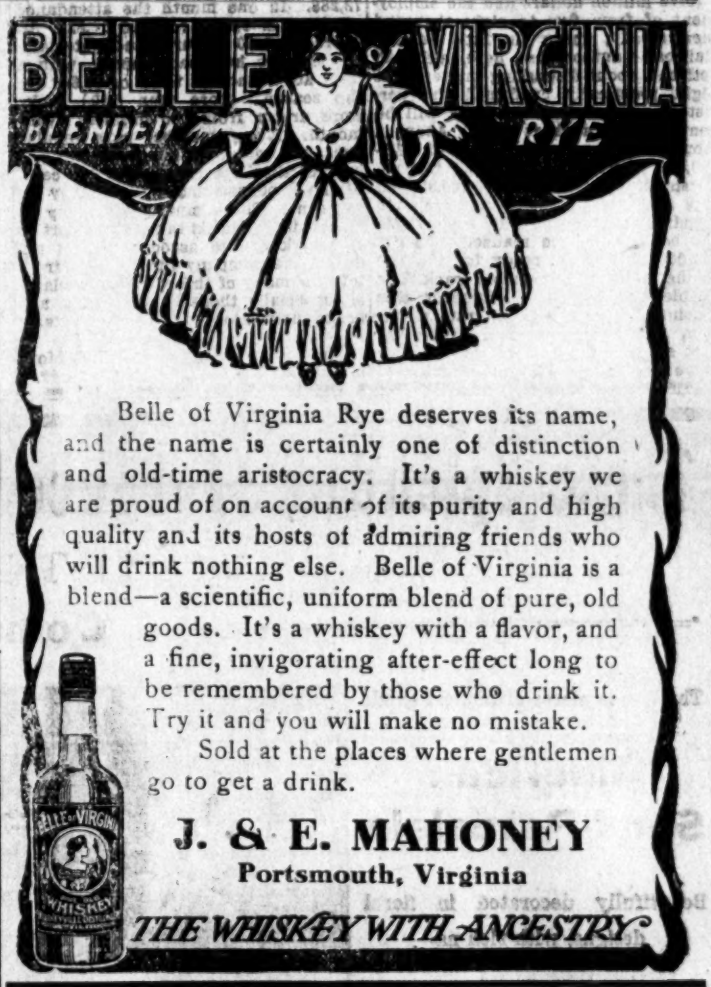
Please don't judge Kodol by any other form of digester. In Kodol alone are all the needed elements brought into combination. Nothing else does all that the healthy stomach will do. Nothing else brings complete relief.

Our Guarantee

The power of Kodol is easy to prove. Buy a large bottle, and ask for the signed guarantee. If it does all we claim, think what it means to you. If it doesn't, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money.

This offer applies to the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. That is enough to prove. Then please tell your friends what a help you have found.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle.



Belle of Virginia Rye deserves its name, and the name is certainly one of distinction and old-time aristocracy. It's a whiskey we are proud of on account of its purity and high quality and its hosts of admiring friends who will drink nothing else. Belle of Virginia is a blend—a scientific, uniform blend of pure, old goods. It's a whiskey with a flavor, and a fine, invigorating after-effect long to be remembered by those who drink it. Try it and you will make no mistake.

Sold at the places where gentlemen go to get a drink.

By Rail and Water

Clarkton Express: "Mr. W. L. Burroughs, of the Industrial Department of the Seaboard Air Line, is in town a few days. The Seaboard is doing a great deal toward developing this section, and Mr. Burroughs is around seeing the people in regard to growing strawberries and other truck."

Baltimore Sun: "On Saturday the Skinner Shipbuilding and Drydock Company launched from its upper plant a wooden pontoon for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to be used at the railroad's terminals in Philadelphia. It is 20 feet deep and 20 feet wide and 40 feet long, fitted with machinery needed for its service. The pontoon will be towed to Philadelphia by the sea route."

Spencer, N. C., July 15.—J. W. Wassam, for the past year superintendent of the Southern Railway terminals at Spencer, has been promoted to superintendent of terminals for the same company at Birmingham, Ala., effective at once. The position brings with it a handsome increase in salary and an increase in responsibilities, the territory being much larger. Mr. Wassam, who has had 15 years' experience in railroading, came to Spencer from Jacksonville, Fla., where he was stationed as train master for the Seaboard Air Line road. He has a fine record and made many friends, not only in Spencer, but likewise with the officials of his company, with which he is deservedly popular. He leaves at once to assume his new duties at Birmingham, though his family will not move for some months.

Winston-Salem Journal: "That the work of double tracking the Southern between Greensboro and Danville will be continued beginning August the first, entailing an expenditure of twelve million dollars and the employment of from five to eight thousand men steady, there is little doubt. Railroad authorities here, although reticent, about discussing matters last night practically confirmed the persistent rumors that the work will be continued in a short time. About a month ago the Southern issued $15,000,000 worth of bonds, and the understanding was that $12,000,000 of this was to be used exclusively in construction work. The money for the bonds has been realized, and the $12,000,000 is now ready for the use in the laying of the double track. The double track between Spencer was finished before the recent rate reduction, and has been used during the past six months, and the section now to be constructed is from Danville to Spencer.

Baltimore Sun: With a rainbow of flags flying the steamer Oneida, recently purchased from the Clyde Line, arrived in Baltimore yesterday from Philadelphia as the property of the Baltimore and Carolina Steamship Company. The Oneida was in charge of Captain L. Hudgins, and upon arrival went to Skinner's lower shipyard, where she will be docked today. The fact that she is equipped with a five-bladed propeller makes it interesting to underwriters and inspectors. Its efficiency is a matter of discussion among experts in maritime matters, and President Williams, of the owning concern, wants to have it decided upon. If passed it will be used, but objection means that he will place the usual four bladed propeller on the steamer. In keeping with the nomenclature of the line Mr. Williams says he expects to have the Oneida changed to Matilda Weems, a name carried for many years on one of the Weems Line steamers of this port to routes on the Chesapeake once controlled and owned by the Weems Steamboat Company.

Philadelphia, July 12.—Reports on the last season's work from the 25 branches of the Young Men's Christian Association on the Pennsylvania railroad shows a paid membership of something more than 10,000, the largest branch being at Philadelphia, with 1,926 members. The total attendance for the season was 682,723. Indicative of the interest taken in the work by the Pennsylvania Railroad employes are the figures showing the attendance at the educational classes and religious meetings. The attendance at all educational meetings was 15,543, while the total attendance for the religious meetings held at the Pennsylvania railroad branches was 72,288. In one month the attendance at these meetings reached 16,826. An average of 50 lectures and entertainments were held each month, with a total attendance at them of 63,690 for the seasan. More than 5,000 books were drawn from the libraries every month. Every member pays regular dues, the members themselves at the present time contributing 60 per cent. of the expenses and the company 40 per cent. The company and many of the leading officials take active part in the work of the association. In addition, the company furnishes instructors for many of the educational classes, especially those in telegraphy, air-brake instruction and such subjects.

CANES IN SPAIN.

Every Spaniard has a stick, the well to do own several, and the "gilded youth" often has a small arsenal of them. The term arsenal in this case is used positively and not figuratively, as the Porto Ricans, like the Spaniards, have quite a craze for sword canes and dagger canes, and they make these with remarkable skill.

The blades of the finer specimens come from famous smiths in Toledo and other Spanish cities and are forged from the finest steel. Some are damascened and others are inlaid with silver and gold, some have worked upon them the name of the owner and others the name of a patron saint. The assortment of walking sticks in the shops in the larger towns is very varied.

They have fashions in sticks and canes suited to different ages and professions. There are sedate mahogany, ebony and rosewood sticks for clergymen and physicians and fanciful bamboos with gleaming steel inside for men about town. There are rough oaken sticks for the Spanish Anglomaniacs and saucy little staves for those who ape the styles of the boulevard. For travelers there are coffee sticks, thorns, tea sticks, leopard wood canes and orange sticks.—London Chronicle.

Funerals In Peru.

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot, with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in carriages.

He Followed the Water.

"Could you do something for a poor old sailor?" asked a wanderer at the rear door of a suburban house one morning recently.

"Poor old sailor!" echoed the housewife, who had opened the door.

"Yes'm. I followed the water for twenty years."

"Well," said the lady as she slammed the door in the face of her unwelcome visitor, "all I've got to say is you certainly don't look as though you had ever caught it."—London Answers.

THE HUMAN TONGUE.

It Is Very Inquisitive, With a Strong Will of Its Own.

The curiosity of the tongue does not cause the human being so much trouble as the curiosity of the eye, but the tongue, within its limits, is the most curious of all.

Let the dentist make a change in the mouth, let him remove a tooth or replace with his admirable artifice one that has long been absent, let him change the form of a tooth by rounding off a corner or building up a cavity, and see what the tongue will do. It will search out that place, taking careful and minute account of the change. Then it will linger near the place. If it is called to other duties, it comes back as soon as they are discharged and feels the changed place all over again, as if it had not explored and rummaged there already.

It makes no difference that these repeated investigations presently cause annoyance to its supposed master, the man. The tongue in nothing more than in this matter proves that it is an unruly member and will not be controlled.

It seems to have an original will and consciousness of it own, and nothing will serve it except the fullest satisfaction of its curiosity. It will wear itself out, perhaps, but it will find out all about the strange change.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, July 18.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 4 points on July, but generally unchanged to 3 points higher in response to rather better cables than expected although week-end figures and weekly weather reviews were considered against the market. Trading was quiet during the early session with reactions narrow and irregular and prices holding about 2 to 3 points net higher on the active months on scattered covering for over the week-end. Market closed with prices net 7 points lower to 1 point higher.

Receipts at the ports today were 4,209 bales, against 3,058 last week and 749 last year. For the week 25,000 bales against 25,004 last week and 7,953 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 896 bales against 50 last year and at Houston 1,444 bales against 1,025 last year.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 18.—The dry goods market was quiet and featureless during the day. White goods for spring are being ordered very moderately. Linens are in better call for immediate and future delivery. Burlaps are very quiet.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 18.—Another substantial uplift put prices of stocks to the highest point of the week and, in some prominent instances, to the highest of the year. The closing tone was very buoyant and animated. U. S. Steel was a conspicuous instance and the large absorption of this stock was of material sympathetic effect on the whole list. The question of freight rate advances still occupies a foremost place of interest for the financial world. The belief in progress toward that end was confined by the day's news of a determination to advance rates by the Southeastern Freight Association and the Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association. The intended increase in freight rates is a stimulating influence on the demand for securities. The effect did not seem to be modified today by the expressed opinion of Inter-State Commerce Commissioner Clements that a general increase in freight rates such as has been reported to be in contemplation would constitute a violation of the Sherman Anti-trust law.

Bonds were strong. Total sales par value 2,194,000. U. S. Bonds have been unchanged on call during the week. Total sales today 353,400 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 18.—Money on call nominal. Time loans quiet and firm; 60 days 2 per cent, and 90 days 2 to 2 1-2; six months 3 3-4 to 4. Close: Prime mercantile paper 3 1-2 to 4 per cent. Sterling exchange fairly steady with actual business in bankers bills at 4.8695 to 4.87 for demand and at 4.8575 to 4.8585 for 60-day bills. Commercial bills 4.85 1-4 to 4.85 1-2. Bar silver 53 1-4. Mexican dollars 45.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 18.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $52,728,400 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is an increase of $5,675,150 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

The statement follows: Loans $1,264,688,300, increase $8,975,500. Deposits $1,346,013,200, increase $17,713,000. Circulation $56,020,100, decrease $169,400. Legal tenders $79,068,100, increase $1,431,700. Specie $310,163,600, increase $8,671,700. Reserve $389,231,700, increase $10,103,400. Reserve required $336,503,300, increase $4,428,300. Surplus $52,728,400, increase $5,675,150. Excess of United States Deposits $55,228,825, increase $5,005,575. The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing house banks at the close of business today was 29,03.

The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York not reporting to the clearing house shows that the institutions have aggregate deposits of $997,289,000, total cash on hand $98,095,000 and loans amounting to $905,774,400.

THE PRODUCER AND HIS REWARD

Some Striking Remarks By Mr. Bryan in a Front Porch Address.

AN ADDRESS TO TEACHERS

Mr. Bryan Receives a Delegation of State Public School Teachers—He Makes an Address to Them Which Outlines Policy.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., July 18.—Declaring that society has not given to the producer his equitable reward and that the administration of the Government should be changed to remedy this condition, W. J. Bryan today from the lawn of his home, delivered one of his most important utterances in the last several years. The occasion was the visit of several hundred teachers and students of the Fremont, Neb., Normal School.

After shaking hands with the visitors, Mr. Bryan was introduced by Prof. W. H. Clemmons, Principal of the school. Mr. Bryan spoke in part as follows:

"It is true that I have not been officially notified yet of my nomination, but there are certain things that have been said that have raised a suspicion in my mind that an announcement is going to be made soon that will not be a great surprise to me. But I cannot withstand the temptation to say a word when I am confronted by the students, who come here with Professor Clemmons and Mrs. Clemmons. They have been old friends of mine. It is fortunate that I have some very partial friends, like Professor Clemmons, to make up for some who are a little prejudiced when they come to examine the principles that I stand for and what I tried for.

"If you will examine the platform adopted at Denver you will find that it closes with an appeal to those who desire to see this Government a Government of the people, by the people and for the people, and so administered that it will, as far as human wisdom can, secure to each individual the reward from society proportionate to the contribution that a person makes to the welfare of society. To my mind this is the ideal toward which a Government should strive. There is a divine law of rewards. It is that everyone shall enjoy in proportion as that person by energy and industry and intelligence contributes to the world.

"Many of you are the sons and daughters of the pioneers who came to this country and converted what was once a desert into a garden spot. When the pioneer goes into a new country he endures sacrifice, and his reward ought to be large. He goes forth with great industry to convert the raw materials that he finds into finished products, into material wealth, and, when the conditions are such as they ought to be, he succeeds in amassing a fortune, in accumulating property in proportion as he applies intelligence and industry in his work. I take it that it is the divine law of reward, and Government should, as nearly as possible, follow those laws. One of our complaints against present conditions is that the rewards of society are not equitably distributed. Take for instance your occupation or profession. In the first place, before you could become teachers you must have an elementary schooling, and then you must prepare yourselves especially for the work upon which you are to enter. You must develop character; you must have the qualities that fit you for high citizenship; and, when you are prepared, you go forth to take charge of our children. You take those children at a period when their characters are forming and by the impression you make upon them we must largely depend for their usefulness in after years. Whether our children are a comfort to us, a pride to us, a source of helpfulness to us, depends very largely upon what the teacher does, for the teacher, more than any other one, co-operates with the parent in the development of the child. Now this is your work. It could not be a more important work, and yet what is your remuneration? I am sure I will not abuse any of you when I tell you I think the teachers of this country are not over-paid. I am sure you will not accuse me of flattery when I say you earn all you get in the way of compensation.

"Our aim in the Democratic platform is to adjust the rewards of society to the people honestly and see that everyone will feel that there is something to strive for. The best way to make people strive is to assure them that their rewards will be proportionate to their endeavor, and we are anxious that the American people shall have the highest possible inspiration to great endeavor. We want them to know that the world will recognize their effort, and I have taken your vocation, your calling as an illustration. I have wondered why teachers of this country would go year after year and vote to turn the Nation over to exploitation by great trusts and private monopolies when the teachers themselves are so poorly paid for great and important work they are doing."

All day yesterday Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the younger daughter of President Roosevelt, was receiving congratulations by telegraph, mail, telephone and verbally from friends and relatives on her 17th birthday. Miss Roosevelt entertained a jolly party of young folks during the day and at night a fancy dress party was given at Sagamore Hill in her honor by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

COLLISION KILLED SIX

Manhattan Limited Crashed Into Auto. Prominent Indiana Politician and Family Were the Victims—On Touring Trips.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Columbia City, Ind., July 18.—Chas. Sherman King, his wife, two daughters, a girl friend of the daughters, and the Chauffeur, all of Fort Wayne, were instantly killed at a Pennsylvania crossing near here this afternoon when an automobile, in which they were riding was struck by the East Bound Manhattan limited, running 60 miles an hour.

The party was in Mr. King's touring car, bound for the King cottage at Lake Wawasee to spend Sunday. The accident occurred while the machine was standing on the Eastbound track of the crossing waiting for the passing of a west-bound freight train. The Eastbound Limited, crashing around a sharp curve near the crossing was unseen and unheard by the automobile party until almost on the crossing. Timmons made a frantic effort to back the car off the track when he realized the danger, but he was too late, and an instant later, the locomotive crashed into the machine, smashing it to splinters and hurling the occupants in all directions. None of the victims lived more than two minutes after the crash.

Mr. King was financial agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Company in Northern Indiana and had headqurters at Fort Wayne. He represented Wabash county in the State Legislature in the session of 1898, and was active in Republican State politics. He was a leader in the Legislature, although not often in debate on the floor. Miss Bradshaw was a friend of the King girls, and was their guest on the trip. She was a daughter of R. W. Bradshaw, of Fort Wayne.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT RACES

Tug Collided With Row Boat and Two Were Drowned.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Ills., July 18.—One contestant was drowned, half a dozen others were seized with cramps and rescued with difficulty, and two spectators were thrown in the river when a tug collided with their rowboat during the first annual "Marathon swim" of the New Illinois Athletic Club in the Chicago river today. The water proved far too cold for the swimmers and only 17 of a field of 60 managed to finish the two mile course. The list of accidents follows:

"A. G. Freeze 55 years old seized with cramps and drowned near the Madison Street Bridge in view of thousands of spectators.

H. J. Handy, Chicago's premier swimmer, seized with cramps at Rush Street and hauled aboard a tug in a semi-conscious state.

Howard Wetz, Chicago; Jose Basse, Mexico City; Anna Harris, Chicago; J. H. Merriam, Chicago; J. Stuart, Belleview, Iowa, all seized with cram at various stages of the race.

The race was won by S. C. Jenson, of the New Illinois Athletic Club. His official time was 44:41 2-4. Anton Jaeger and G. A. Johnson, of the same club were second and third respectively. None of the out-of-town contestants finished.

Freeze sank after he had covered about two thirds of the course. He was the oldest contestant in the event. He came to Chicago from Germany about 25 years ago, and has been noted as a distance swimmer at the local beaches but evidently found the strain of a long distance race too great for his advanced age. Fully 10,000 persons watched the race.

CORPORATIONS ELIMINATED.

Judge Taft Says Contributions Will Not be Accepted.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Hot Springs, Va., July 18.—"The National Republican Committee will accept no contributions from corporations," said Judge Taft, Presidential candidate of the Republican party today, and in an interview he also referred to labor, prohibition and other questions. Mr. Taft said that not only would the law of New York State, providing for the publicity of campaign contributions be obeyed by the National Republican committee, but the Federal law prohibiting such contributions by corporations in connection with the election of President, Vice President, Representatives or Senators, would be followed without regard to any question of validity as to any provision. When asked as to his idea of the power of the leader of a labor organization to throw its vote to one party or another, he declared that in his opinion it could be predited that there is no so-called class of the American electorate whose votes could be delivered by its leaders.

INVESTIGATE FREIGHT RATES.

Railroad Associations May Have Violated Sherman Law.
(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission may take action on the increased freight rates agreed to at the meeting of the Sotuheastern Freight Association and the Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association at Louisville, Ky., yesterday when the new tariffs are filed with the Commission by the roads having membership in the two Associations.

Action can be taken by the committee on its own initiative or upon the complaint of shippers or shippers' associations. If the Inter-State Commerce Commission should find that the increase in freight rates was made through concerted action and that there was evidence that the Sherman anti-trust law was violated, the attention of the Attorney General will in all probability be called to the matter.

THE DREW MYSTERY STILL A MYSTERY

No Further Clew as to Manner of Death of The Young Woman.

THE GIRL'S MOVENTS

On the Day Preceding Her Disappearance Still Puzzling the Police. Some Evidence as to Being Seen on Tabor Road.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Troy, N. Y., July 18.—Dopments today in the Teal Pond mur mystery, although they cleared some of the uncertainties of Ha Drew's whereabouts on the day ore she met her death, furnished e of material value to establish identity of the girl's slayer. Where she spent the night of July 6, the da which she said she was going to w York, is a question the authorit are unable to answer.

The story told by Frank ith and Rudolph Gunderman that ey saw Miss Drew on the Tabor road on the evening of July 7, w she is supposed to have been mur ed, was partially corroborated today Henry Rollman, who lives at Be Head, near Glass Lake.

On the evening of July Mr. and Mrs. Rollman drove to A ll Park over the Taborton road. a point about a quarter of a mi west of where Gunderman and ith met Hazel they saw a girl. Mr Rollman remarked to her husband t such a pretty girl ought not to b lone on the road at that hour. T girl was standing near the side o e road picking berries, and afte ey had driven along for some dis ce Mrs. Rollman looked back and s was still standing where they had sed her. "My" but that girl is hav a good time with those berries," id Mrs. Rollman to her husband.

The incident was recalled hen they read the accounts of Ha Drew's death and Mrs. Rollman's scription of the girl tallies with that Hazel.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, wh ves near the Drew family in this city w Hazel at the Union station Mon , July 6, when the girl told her she as going to New York. Then she rried out to take a local train to A ny. Of her movements from that me until her suit case was checked Tuesday afternoon at the Troy railr d station, the authorities know little. The possibility that she may have ent Monday night in Albany cause an investigation to be made there day, but without result.

Peter Cipperly, a resident of Snyder's Lake, thinks he saw her in company with a young man of dark complexion on a troley car going from Albany to Averill Park about 3 o'clock on July 7. Cipperly did not know Miss Drew, but his description of the girl he saw on th ca makes the authorities thing that it may have been her.

KILLS CHILDREN AND SELF

Domestic Unhappiness Caused Horrible Tragedy.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Buffalo, N. Y., July 18.—Mrs. Isabella Sahlen fed her three small children poison today, and then strangled each with a handkerchief to make her work sure. Then she went to the grocery store for more poison, which she took herself. Her three children were dead when their mother was discovered and Mrs. Fahlen was dying. Physicians did what they could for her, but she cannot survive.

In a statement which Mrs. Shlen made to the police and the medical examiner, the woman blamed her sister-in-law, who she said caused her much domestic unhappiness.

Just after 4 o'clock Mrs. Sahlen ran out into her doorway and screamed to her next door neighbor Mrs. Brown, that she had poisoned her three children and herself. Mrs. Brown rushed into the Sahlen yard and Mrs. Sahlen met her with a bread knife.

The frantic mother made a thrust at Mrs. Brown and retreated and called for help. Physicians and the police found the three children dead and Mrs. Sahlen under the first effects of the poison. Frank, the 15 months old baby, was dead in the go-cart in the dining room with a handkerchief stuffed into his throat. Elizabeth, the three year old girl, was evidently killed first and Mrs. Sahlen took the five year old boy out of bed from the dead body of his sister and placed him on the floor. Then she lay beside the lad, fed him the poison and strangled him in his agony.

NAVAL RESERVES READY

Maneuvers in Waters of Hampton Roads Event of Week.
(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Norfolk, Va., July 18.—With two of the naval reserve fleet still missing, the Vixen, with the New Jersey militia aboard, and the Sylvia with the Pennsylvania reserves, the vessels lying tonight at anchor in the lower Chesapeake Bay, indulged in a two hours searchlight drill and maneuvering, but changing positions very little. Fort Monroe joined in the practice, first the vessels picking up the forts and then the fort eyeing the ships. Not a gun was fired and the actual drills of defense will not begin until the fleet is completed.

It is expected that by morning the Vixen and Sylvia will have arrived, when the torpedo boats will put to sea, to act as the attacking fleet, while the reserve fleet will protect the bay entrance, forcing the fight before the fort and preventing technical entrance of the Norfolk Harbor.

ELEVEN ARE INJURED

Passenger Train on Maryland Railroad Met With Accident.
(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Western Port, Md., July 18.—Express train No. 2 on the Western Maryland Railroad, running from Elkins, W. Va., to Baltimore, met with an accident shortly before noon today, as a result of which 11 persons were injured, only one or two of them seriously, however. The accident occurred on a sharp curve, the engine partially leaving the rails. It remained upright, but all the cars of the train rolled down the embankment toward the Potomac River. It is considered little short of miraculous that no one was killed. Nearly all the injured are residents of West Virginia. A relief train sent from Cumberland, Md., took a number of the victims of the wreck to that city this evening. In the baggage car were the corpses of a man and a woman, both of which were tossed about, the casket containing the body of the woman being broken sufficiently to expose the contents.

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH FIRE

INSURANCE? No! Never thought of it, though I carry it at home of course. If I had taken out one of those TOURIST'S POLICIES covering wearing apparel, jewelry and all personal effects, issued by Clayton Giles & Son, I certainly would feel much better this morning.

Delays are costly. Let us protect you NOW at a small cost so you can enjoy your Summer vacation.
